

OPEN SENATE FIRE ON BORAH

NEW NAVY PACT MEANS MORE U. S. WARSHIPS

Agas Far Behind Any Possible Ratio.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(Special.)—With other nations building navies while the United States still, a considerable expansion of the American navy will be called for by any new agreement on further limitation that President Coolidge is able to bring about, according to officials here.

The impression has been created that the invitation sought by the President to the four other naval powers would mean a reduction of armament or at least would mean the United States of the necessity of building more cruisers and submarines.

It is not true. Instead of a reduction of armament the extension of the 1921 ratio to cruisers and other vessels, as advocated by the President, would mean a considerable increase of armament by the United States.

Plan for 3-Power Pact.
France and Italy rejecting his plan, Mr. Coolidge now is bent on making a three-power agreement with the United States, Great Britain, and Japan to extend the Washington limitation to auxiliaries.

However, is unwilling to accept the ratio of 5 to 6 of the United States and Great Britain, deeming it too high. Secretary of the navy, however, is not in favor of the ratio of 5 to 6 of the United States and Great Britain, deeming it too high.

As the United States has 13 modern cruisers built and 10 under construction, it is clear that whatever limit might be agreed on it would be considerable additional building.

SHANGHAI GIVES TOMMY ATKINS WILD WELCOME

8 More Troopships Race to City.

SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—(U. N.)—While eight British transports rushed under full speed to beat the Cantonese troops to Shanghai, companies of Tommies, debarking from the steamer Megantic, landed amid the cheers of hundreds of British residents. Maj. Gen. Duncan was in charge of the British troops called from overseas to defend their fellow nationals in Shanghai.

As the eager English soldiers, looking from every porthole of the former White Star liner, were carried to a landing place a demonstration occurred on the docks.

Soap factories, mills, schools, and apartment houses were turned into barracks. The British soldiers overflowed these places to the American Columbia Country club on the outskirts of the settlement.

Hopes to Stop Cantonese Drive.
Meanwhile Gen. Chang Chung-chang, war lord of Shantung and ally of Chang Tso-lin, Peking and Manchurian boss, returned from Sunkiang tonight with the declaration that he can muster a million men and "drive the Cantonese into the sea."

"I am here and Shanghai is safe," Chang announced after taking up a temporary residence in the international settlement. "I have a quarter of a million men ready for immediate action and with Chang Tso-lin can muster a full million soldiers."

Chang reported the defenses of Sunkiang were adequate and said the world could "be assured that the Cantonese advance toward Shanghai would be stopped."

Southerners Await New Troops.
At Sunkiang, a scant 30 miles from this rich prize city for which the rival Chinese armies are fighting, Marshal Chiang Kaishek, chieftain of the southern armies, held up his rifle for that city pending arrival of reinforcements expected hourly. Gen. Chang, who last week practically superseded Marshal Sun Chuan-rang as Shanghai's chief defender, is massing his troops near Sunkiang, realizing that the drive which might pave the way for a victory march by the southerners into Shanghai might come at any minute.

The liner Megantic, diverged from the New York to Liverpool service of the White Star line, had been awaited eagerly by the British residents of Shanghai. British Tommies, occupying the same bunks occupied by thousands of American soldiers who were transported in this ship to the French battlefields during the world war, were heroes to their fellow countrymen here who had felt last week that the siege of Shanghai would begin before their arrival. A scene that resembled those in Liverpool when the American soldiers arrived was reenacted. Crowds swarmed the docks as the British fighting men, fully equipped, fell into line for the march to their barracks.

Whangpoo River Closed at Night.
Measures of the northern soldiers for defense of the city have brought some friction with the foreign population. The consular body is preparing a protest to the Shanghai defense commission against closing of the Whangpoo river, entrance of all shipping, between the hours of six in the evening and six in the morning.

French police have ordered strong measures to prevent kidnapping of Cantonese agents in the French concession. Three agents of Li Pao-chang, head of the defense commission, were arrested by the French police on claims that measures they had taken constituted a violation of neutrality. The northern forces have closed and locked Shanghai university, a notorious communist center in the Chinese city.

A group of "dapper propagandist units" have been employed by the northerners to distribute leaflets urging Chinese to be loyal to the north Chinese cause.

Northern soldiers who had occupied buildings adjacent to Gen. Frederick Ward's tomb at Sunkiang evicted it after the American Legion posted in charge of the tomb, had posted the occupation as a desecration. Looters in Hangchow Killed.
SHANGHAI, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Hundreds of northern soldiers and civilians engaged in looting were killed in Hangchow by armed civilians. (Continued on page 6, column 1.)

Ontario Builds Air Castles on Yanks' Thirst

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.—With the end of prohibition in Ontario only about two months away, Toronto is beginning a building boom which may be the greatest in its history. Work has begun on several large hotels. Plans have been prepared for several skyscraper office buildings. Never before have so many apartment houses been projected at one time. Builders coast on a large influx of the United States and expect government controlled liquor sales to usher in a new era of prosperity.

This condition is not confined to Toronto alone. It is noticeable in Hamilton, the second city of the province, and also in London.

Real Estate Boom Begins.
Along the border a real estate boom has begun. There is active speculation in subdivisions all along the Niagara and Essex fronts. It is believed hundreds of Detroiters will move their residences to Windsor to escape from the drought in the land of the Volstead act.

The summer resort territory is preparing to capitalize on the extra attraction offered this year. A bulletin issued this week by the railways said reservations for the summer from the United States were already much greater than ever before.

Yanks Flock to Oasls.
On President Lincoln's birthday, Montreal hotels were filled with thirsty Americans, while in still dry Ontario the holiday made no difference to the hotels. This is cited by the hotel keepers as a sign of what will happen when prohibition goes.

$6 FOR 6 QUARTS IS CHEAP, BUT NOT FOR PLAIN WATER

Six quarts for $6 in these dry days? Pretty good, thought Nate Cohen of 1408 Trumbull avenue last night. But there was the awakening. Nate, a cab driver, drove two men $3 worth. They had no money, but offered him the six quarts—all the old quill, prewar, they said. He was so delighted he gave them $3 extra. Under a street light he examined the stuff. It was colorless. He tasted and then drove furiously to the East Chicago avenue station, where he waved the bottles.

"Water!" he shouted. "Those gypers gave me water!"
Detectives Kemper and Kragrud went with him to 15 West Superior street, where the found John Hudson, whom they arrested on Nate's complaint.

Chicagoan Dies After Being Attacked by Show's Lion

Utica, N. Y., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Capt. Louis Furtell of Chicago, member of the Kelso brothers' revue, died at a hospital here tonight from blood poisoning, the result of an attack by one of the group of lions with which he performed in a vaudeville act. Furtell was badly wounded on the body several days ago while about to feed the lions. He was rescued with difficulty.

Royal Son of Sweden Here for 4 Day Visit

A Swedish prince with a British accent, traveling in America to lecture on a hunting trip in darkest Africa, is in our midst.
Carl Wilhelm Ludwig, a stalwart six foot plus figure, second son of King Gustav V. of Sweden and the second member of his immediate family to visit Chicago within a year, stepped down from a Michigan Central train from Detroit yesterday, into the midst of a reception committee whose plans will provide the prince with activities in plenty during his four day visit.

His elder brother, Crown Prince Gustav Adolphus, and the Crown Princess Louise were Chicago guests last June.

Prince Wilhelm is here primarily on business, to deliver a lecture at Orchestra hall Wednesday night, under the auspices of North Park college, on "Hunting Big Game in Pigmey Land."

Between engagements he is looking and learning about America, in the role of a private individual, and somewhat, too, he confessed, from the standpoint of a potential author of articles on American life.

"But I should like to see more of your country before I decide on that point," the pleasantly drawing voice interpolated; "there is a great deal that I can't see on this trip. So perhaps I shall come back later."

Upon his arrival and after having been formally welcomed by the Swedish consul, Carl O. de Dardel, the prince went to the Blackstone hotel. After luncheon he was taken for a tour of Chicago, which occupied the afternoon.

Consul's Guest at Dinner.
Consul General de Dardel was host last night at his home, 53 Cedar street, at a dinner for his highness and the following: Vice Consul G. B. Anderson, Consul General Johnson of Stockholm, and Court Forester Helga Johnson, who are accompanying the prince; Chief Bernie, Norwegian consul; E. Baumann, Danish consul; Hugo A. Anderson, chairman of the reception committee; Peter A. Waller of Kewanee; Justus Seeburg; Col. T. A. Siqueland, and Dr. Andrew Frick.

This morning Stanley Field is to guide Prince Wilhelm through the Field museum, which is expected to be of especial interest to him in view of his big game hunting adventures.

Friends Claim Millionaire's Wife Aids Suit

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
NICE, Feb. 27.—William Kissam Vanderbilt and Mrs. Rosamond Lancaster Warburton left Monaco harbor at 8 o'clock this morning aboard the Vanderbilt yacht, Ara, for a month's cruise along the African coast. They will visit Morocco, Algeria, Tunis, and then Egypt, including Cairo, the pyramids, the sphinx, and the Nile, returning to France early in April.

A big party, which only broke up at 7:30 this morning, half an hour before the Ara sailed off, marked the departure of Mr. Vanderbilt and Mrs. Warburton. Thirty friends had been invited to dinner by Mr. Vanderbilt. Later they visited the casino, where the host lost 3,000 francs (about $120) and Mrs. Warburton won 2,000 francs (about $80).

Shortly after midnight the guests boarded the yacht, where they played bridge and danced to the music of the phonograph and wireless.

Claim Suit Is Near.

Intimate friends of Mr. Vanderbilt declare the millionaire makes no secret that everything has been arranged for him to obtain a divorce in Paris and marry Mrs. Warburton early in the spring. It is said he has finally obtained Virginia Fair Vanderbilt's consent on the ground that both their daughters now are married and since husband and wife have been separated and living apart for years it would be folly to continue to ruin the balance of both lives.

Mr. Vanderbilt already has consulted lawyers in Paris and the complaint for divorce will be filed as soon as the domicile has been established, it is reported. Mrs. Vanderbilt has decided not to contest the suit. In fact, the wife is expected in Paris toward the end of March to retain lawyers to represent her so that the decree can be awarded "according to Hoyle" in the French courts.

Mrs. Virginia Vanderbilt is an ardent Catholic and refuses to recognize divorce, but has agreed to permit her husband to obtain a legal divorce since he is so determined.

Deutch Already Divorced, Report.
Close friends of Armand Deutch declare the Chicago millionaire has already obtained a divorce from Julius Rosenwald's daughter and intends to marry Roslyn Wainwright, a beautiful American actress, with whom he was constantly seen at Monte Carlo during the last two months. The decree will become effective in April. Mr. Deutch and Miss Wainwright now are in Egypt and are expected to return to the Riviera within two weeks.

COLLEGE DEGREE OFFTEN HANDICAP, "Y" MAN ASSERTS

Instead of being desirable, a college education often is actually a handicap to a man seeking a job. The opinion was expressed yesterday by J. F. Hallwachs, employment secretary of the central Y. M. C. A.

"A diploma in the right hand and a fraternity key on the watch chain are not the best stepping stones to success in modern business," he declared. "A dislike for college graduates by business men is due to the fact that the possessors of sheepskins expect large salaries and rapid advancement. They don't want to wait; they prefer to climb over men ahead of them rather than to move up gradually."

The blame for conditions rests with the colleges more than with the students, Mr. Hallwachs added. Embarrassment would be saved if all students were fully informed in undergraduate days of their exact value in business, he said.

CALL MESSAGE TO CALLES MOVE TO HELP MEXICO

Violation of Logan Act Hinted.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(Special.)—In connection with his proposal for an investigation of political and other conditions in Mexico and Nicaragua Senator Borah, chairman of the committee on foreign relations, has been in direct communication with President Calles of Mexico, and much feeling has been aroused thereby among the committee membership.

The correspondence will be made public tomorrow, and there is every prospect that a spirited debate will take place in the senate on Senator Borah's resolution providing for an investigation of political and other conditions in Mexico and Nicaragua.

Some administration leaders accuse Senator Borah of a breach of conduct as a senator by trying to usurp the functions of the chief executive. This, they point out, is particularly reprehensible at this time of crisis in Mexican and Central American relations.

Cite the Logan Act.

In connection with Senator Borah's communications the Logan law has been cited. This act restricts every citizen of the United States "without the permission or authority of the government" from directly or indirectly carrying on any verbal or written correspondence with any foreign government or an officer or agent of it, "with an intent to influence the measures or conduct of any foreign government or any officer or agent thereof, in relation to any disputes or controversies with the United States or to defeat the measures of the government of the United States."

It is only in connection with the spirit of this statute that Senator Borah's communication with President Calles is questioned. Should the point be raised in the senate he is certain to be defended on several grounds, among them that a United States senator, and especially the chairman of the committee on foreign relations, is privileged to communicate with the head of a foreign government on a subject of international dispute.

Encouraging Mexico Is Claim.

Senator Borah's critics are claiming that his communication with President Calles is certain to encourage the Mexican government to further resistance to the effort of the Coolidge administration to prevent it from carrying out a policy of what the administration describes as confiscation of American owned oil lands and other landed properties in Mexican territory.

It is also claimed that his investigation resolution will encourage resistance to the course of the United States in both Mexico and Nicaragua. Into this aspect of the criticism leveled at Mr. Borah enters the allegation of the administration that the Mexican government is trying to establish in Nicaragua a Bolshevik wedge between continental United States and the Panama canal.

Prospective Outbreak over the resolution for a senate investigation of matters in Mexico and Nicaragua, coupled with the action of Senator Borah in communicating with President Calles, has an added interest in view of the sudden departure of Ambassador Telles of Mexico from Washington for Mexico City and the interview yesterday between Senator Borah and Secretary Kellogg, who got out of a sickbed to call on Mr. Borah at the capitol.

Rumored Signs of Adjustment.

According to unconfirmed reports, Secretary Kellogg, who was anxious that the committee on foreign relations should not undertake its investigation at this time, based his rumored desire of postponement on encouraging signs that the differences between the American and Mexican governments were in a fair way of adjustment. This report should be taken with reserve.

At yesterday's meeting of the committee on foreign relations, hostile Republican members prevented the adoption of Senator Borah's original resolution, which provided that the committee should visit Mexico and Nicaragua to make the investigation on the ground. Senator Borah saved his proposal from total rejection by modifying it to overcome objections of Democratic committeemen, so that the in-

NEVER WILL ACT TO BUILD HUGE CITY AUDITORIUM

Endors Cermak Proposal of County Jail Site.

Realizing last night the urgent, immediate needs of Chicago, Mayor William H. Dyer said he could see nothing more important than a great convention hall, centrally located, to seat 10,000 or more.

He agreed with Anton J. Cermak, president of the county board, that the site which the old Criminal courts building and the county jail now stand upon would be ideal.

The mayor went just a bit further, however, and said that the city should not build a half block and the mayor made a tentative suggestion that the city should acquire the full block bounded by Austin, Wabash, and Dearborn streets, and that the city should build a great and beautiful auditorium.

Mayor to Meet Cermak.

Mayor Dyer then stated, that in view of his heavy campaign duties, he would not call an early conference with Mr. Cermak for a full discussion of the subject. He added that he will seek the advice of the commissioner of public works, the president of the board of local improvements, the city controller, and Corporation Counsel Francis X. Bosch.

What brought the matter to the mayor's attention last evening was a letter sent him on Saturday by Mr. Cermak, in which the latter, backed by a resolution of the county board, urged the city's need of such an auditorium. Mr. Cermak submitted the subject of a proposal from the county to finance the proposition until the city is able to reimburse the county.

"The time is ripe for discussion of the subject," the mayor said. "It is important to drive ahead with it. I'll promote such an auditorium in any way. It must be architecturally important and it must be of ample proportions. It seems to me it should seat at least 10,000. Such a hall could be used for many important uses; a great arena, all manner of conventions, a place for big exhibits.

Gives Reasons for Site.

"There is no question the suggested site is ideal. It is close to the loop and easily accessible. That whole neighborhood is in the process of metamorphosis. It is opening up wonderfully. Many improvements have been made and a great many more are coming—La Salle and Madison streets, for instance.

"I believe this project would be the best subject for a special council meeting. But I believe we ought to have something concrete to offer first. I told Mr. Cermak has taken an active step.

"The question of finances must be brought into the picture. I think Mr. Cermak's suggestion to have the county help the city in the financing might be feasible. Perhaps a bond issue would be provided. Off hand it seems to me an adequate place, such as the city would want to sponsor, would cost at least $5,000,000.

Private Capital Suggested.

He was asked what he thought of the possibility of such a project being financed by private capital. It had been suggested that perhaps a group of wealthy men of the city might be induced to finance it, possibly leaving the city an option to acquire it in the future.

"Well," he responded, "I haven't had an opportunity to think it out. I know there are such projects in other cities and that they serve their purpose remarkably. The new Madison square garden in New York is one—though that doesn't hold the number. I think Chicago's assembly hall would hold."

"The important thing is that something has been started, the time is ripe for action. I am going into it and see what can be done."

KILLED BY TRAIN ENGINE.

John O'Donnell, 45, 4441 Princeton avenue, was instantly killed early yesterday morning by an engine while switching cars at the Chicago Junction railroad yard at Wood Street.

ELECTION FRAUD PROSECUTOR MAY SUE FOR FUNDS

A mandamus suit to force Cook county to appropriate $25,000 for an investigation into election frauds, was threatened yesterday by Charles Center Case, who has been sworn in by County Judge E. K. Jarecki as special state's attorney to prosecute these frauds. The county board budget committee on Saturday refused to supply funds for the special prosecution.

In the meantime, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe, through his assistant, George E. Gorman, today will file quo warranto proceedings against Case to test the legality of his power as a special state's attorney. Despite these handicaps, Mr. Case yesterday said he would go through with his investigation of fraud charges. "If necessary I would pay the expenses out of my own pocket," Mr. Case said yesterday. "But that will not be necessary. The Supreme court has ruled on three previous like cases, declaring that compensation must be paid a special state's attorney for work of this nature."

2 N. U. STUDENTS KEPT IN JAIL FOR AUTO TIRE THEFT

Two Northwestern university students who were arrested Saturday night when trying to steal a tire from an automobile in front of the Evanston Woman's club were held incommunicado at the Evanston police station yesterday.

They are Arthur C. Cheeseman of Muncie, Ind., and Albert Atterberry of Lenwood, Kas., both sophomores in the college of engineering. Cheeseman said that he tried to steal the tire because one on his car was worn out and he had no money for another. Later he admitted he knew his automobile was stolen, but maintained he had purchased it from the thief.

When arrested the pair claimed Cheeseman was a member of the Sigma Delta fraternity and Atterberry a pledge. At the fraternity house yesterday both these statements were denied. It was added that Cheeseman had been a pledge but his pin had been taken from him.

WAR COUNCILS TO MAP MAYORALTY CAMPAIGN TODAY

Organization Work Starts for Three Sided Battle.

The three ring mayorality election campaign will start getting up steam today. Organization work now begins in earnest.

William Hale Thompson, Republican nominee, will return from Washington, and he and his aids, including State's Attorney Crowe, County Chairman Homer K. Galpin and County Treasurer George F. Harding, will begin reshaping their ranks with a view to taking in as many as possible of the forces that fought them in the primary.

The war council of the Democrats, including Mayor Dyer, is to hold its first session, and it is expected that George E. Brennan, national committeeman, who has been resting in Florida and at Hot Springs, Ark., will be back in time to sit in with them.

Dr. Robertson to Speak.

The third entry, Dr. John Dill Robertson, running as an independent, is the only one who will be addressing meetings, but it is understood that his advisers also will be occupied in the so-called practical work of organization.

In the Republican camp there is keen curiosity concerning the results of Thompson's visit to the capital, which is thought to have had its political purpose as well as the announced intention of aiding the Boulder dam legislation. The candidate was preceded there by Chairman Galpin, and although Thompson may not have seen United States Senator Deneen, it is believed that Galpin communicated with him.

The question most widely asked concerns the extent to which the ward organizations which recently backed Edward R. Littenberger will amalgamate with the Crowe-Galpin forces for the election. Word of Senator Deneen's personal attitude may go far toward answering it.

Attacks Transit Records.

Former Health Commissioner Robertson had no meetings yesterday, but went out to local improvement clubs in the outlying districts a letter attacking the transit records of both Mayor Dyer and former Mayor Thompson, but principally the latter.

"You notice," he said in this communication, "that instead of Thompson's offering you a sensible solution of the traction problem he shouts 'America first!' and, like a child, makes faces at the king of England."

"You will remember how for eight years Thompson promised you a 5 cent car fare. You will recall how Thompson used to stand on the platform, pound his breast, and declare that he would have your car fares reduced. And you know that you are still paying 7 cents on the street cars and 10 cents on the elevated lines."

Dr. Robertson also insisted that "America first!" is no answer to popular demands for clean streets and the reduction of taxes, and other issues in the campaign.

CHICKEN OPEN KIDNEY RAPE.

Thieves broke into the office of the Birch Brothers company, makers of bakery specialties, 500 North Wells street, and blew open an empty safe early yesterday.

Nabbed as Burglar, Tries to Kill Himself in Cell

Jacob Becker, 27 years old, of 933 West Van Buren street, attempted to commit suicide by slashing his throat with a penknife yesterday in his cell at the South Clark street police station. He was taken to Bridewell hospital where it is believed he will recover. Becker was arrested on burglary charges at the M. O. Moore & Co.

PROSPERITY INVOICE SOUGHT BY WALSH; SEES IT MISNOMER

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Creation of a special senatorial committee of fifteen members to conduct an investigation into the "economic state of the nation" will be proposed in the senate tomorrow by Senator David I. Walsh (Dem., Mass.).

The resolution which the senator has prepared suggests a "sweeping inquiry" to culminate in a recommendation for constructive action to remedy the depressed condition of agriculture in the west, the cotton industry in the south and the unemployment and extensive curtailment of production in eastern manufacturing centers.

The resolution, Senator Walsh declared tonight, will be "a challenge to the alleged claim of prosperity in the country, which the senator alleges is confined to the groups already financially prosperous and which does not pervade the industrial workers or agriculturists of the country."

"It is time," says Senator Walsh, "to have a constructive investigation—one that seeks to find cause and sound solutions to our economic problems, a remedy for conditions throughout the country which, despite our great wealth, appear to be rushing us headlong in a course that can only end in the impoverishment of the many and the enrichment of the few."

HAD 2 WIVES; 1 NIGHTS, 1 DAYS; NOW HE'S IN JAIL

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 27.—(AP)—David E. Ropp's arrangement for maintaining two wives in separate establishments without either knowing of the other, worked well for a while. One wife worked nights as a telephone operator, while the other was employed days as a saleswoman. But fate, in the form of a scribbled telephone number, intervened, and Ropp is under arrest, facing a bigamy charge.

Mrs. Goldie Haymaker Ropp, wife No. 2, studied a number at the telephone stand which she never had noticed before in the two months since she married Ropp.

She called the number. Her husband answered, and there was a hurried snapping of the receiver when she inquired, "Is that you, David?" Mrs. Goldie Ropp called again, and this time a sleepy feminine voice answered. It was that of Mrs. Lydia Van Winkle Ropp, night telephone operator and wife No. 1. During this telephone talk Ropp departed.

Summoning a taxicab, Mrs. Ropp No. 2 rushed to the home of Mrs. Ropp No. 1, and marriage licenses were compared. Then the women went to police headquarters and procured a warrant for Ropp's arrest.

TWO DIE, FOUR SAVED AS FIRE ATTACKS HOMES

$150,000 Blaze Damages
Salt Warehouse.

Efforts of physicians to save the lives of two boys proved vain early yesterday after they had been found overcome by smoke in their bedroom at 259 West 22d street, where a fire drove eight families to the street. The boys, brothers, were forsaken by their distracted parents when smoke began to pour into their flat. Application of pulmonary for two hours failed to bring back life.

The dead boys were Bruno Spino, 6 years old, and Frank, 3. Vincent Spino, their father, was seriously injured when, believing his family safe, he jumped from the second to the first floor landing. The mother, thought at first to have been trapped by the flames, was later found wandering the streets in a dazed condition.

2 Children, Father Saved.

Among others overcome by smoke and rescued from the building are Carmella Abatti, 2 years old, her brother, Bartoli, 5, and Tony Abatti, their father. Squads No. 1 and No. 8, commanded by Lieut. J. Gunnar and Daniel Lyons, was credited with saving the Abatti family.

Policeman Frank Moran and Patrick Neville of Pekin Inn station, carried several persons out of the blazing building after they had summoned the fire department. The flames are believed to have started in a grocery on the first floor and had gained considerable headway in the three story structure of brick and wood before they were discovered.

Woman Saved from Flames.

Mrs. Marion Martin, 53 years old, was rescued yesterday afternoon from a fire that attacked her home at 4652 Wentworth avenue. Fireman William Moore of engine company 1 climbed to where she stood in a second story window and carried her to safety.

Mrs. Martin was asleep and did not become aware of her danger until too late to escape unaided. A third fire yesterday caused damage estimated at $150,000 to the Morton Salt company's warehouse at the mouth of the Chicago river.

ain has 37, aggregating 285,785 tons; Japan, 101, of 228,201 tons; France, 95, of 221,826 tons; Italy, 46, of 102,267 tons, and the United States only 16, of 120,909 tons and six of these are small river gunboats for use on Chinese river patrol.

In light cruisers the United States has ten of 7,500 tons each in commission. Congress has further authorized the construction of eight light cruisers of 10,000 tons each and has appropriated toward laying down five of these cruisers. When the five appropriated for shall have been completed, we shall have ten cruisers of 7,500 tons each and five cruisers of 10,000 tons each, an aggregate of 125,000 tons.

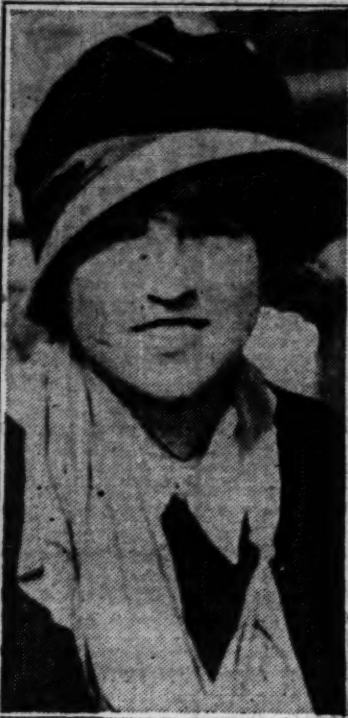

Of these modern light cruisers, Great Britain has completed four of 9,750 tons each and two of 7,500 tons each. She has under construction eleven cruisers of 10,000 tons each, including one for Australia, and has appropriated for two more, as well as one mine laying cruiser of 8,000 tons. When these shall have been completed the British aggregate tonnage of modern light cruisers will be 192,100 tons.

Small Cruisers Effective.
This, however, by no means represents the British light cruiser strength, as she has 34 light cruisers, running from 3,500 tons to 4,765 tons, with a speed of 25 knots each. These small light cruisers, while in no way to be compared in battle efficiency with our own modern light cruisers, are extremely effective for scouting, screening, commerce raiding and other small vessels and for the protection of their own commerce and the destruction of enemy commerce.

We have no modern vessels of this kind in process of construction or projected, and it is altogether probable that in the future this type of vessel will be left out in the construction plans of the various countries in favor of the larger cruisers allowed under the terms of the treaty. Great Britain's aggregate cruiser tonnage built, building and appropriated for is 232,290.

Japan has at the present time only two completed modern light cruisers of 7,100 tons each. She is building two more of these 7,100 ton ships and four of 10,000 tons each. She has, in addition, 17 very fast smaller cruisers ranging up to 5,595 tons. Her aggregate cruiser tonnage built, building and appropriated for is 50,784 tons.

Old Vessels in Commission.
Italy has eight small cruisers ranging from 3,218 to 4,842 tons and of 27 to 28 knot speed. Five of them are ex-Austrian and German ships. She has two cruisers building of 10,000 tons each. Her aggregate tonnage built, building and appropriated for is 50,784 tons.

The United States has, further, in commission certain old and slow cruisers which have very little military value. Great Britain has still in commission eight cruisers of a speed of 25 knots, six of which were built in the years 1912 to 1914. Japan has three old cruisers of 4,950 tons each and of a speed of 26 knots, built in 1912.

Far Below Ratio Strength.
"We are clearly far below our ratio strength both as respects Great Britain and Japan in light cruiser tonnage. The very considerable building program of these two countries in respect to these ships indicates that they have no intention of standing on their present strength in this class of ships," said Senator Hale (Rep.)

Me.), chairman of the senate naval affairs committee.

In fleet submarines of 2,000 tons and over the United States has three built and three building. One of these fleet submarines now building is a mine-laying submarine of 2,800 tons plus; she is in a class by herself, as none of the other four countries have any mine-laying submarines of large size built or building.

Great Britain has two fleet submarines of over 2,000 tons each. France has three of 3,000 tons each built, building, or projected.

Ahead in Submarine Class.
In this class of submarines the United States has a preponderance of strength. The British K boats are old boats that have been converted from steam to oil and are understood to be not entirely satisfactory. She has one boat, the XI, of 2,700 tons, which is showing considerable promise.

In fleet submarines of 1,000 to 2,000 tons the United States has three of the T boat class which have proven impracticable and these boats are no longer in commission. Great Britain has two K boats of 1,800 tons already built and nine of 1,345 to 1,400 tons each, building. Japan has three of 1,400 tons and three of 1,970 tons built; one of 1,970 tons, ten of 1,400 tons, and six of 1,000 tons building.

France has five built of 1,100 tons and nineteen building or appropriated for from 1,100 to 1,550 tons each. Italy has four of 1,100 tons building.

Lags in Fleet Submarines.
In fleet submarines, therefore, of a tonnage between 1,000 and 2,000 tons, the United States is far behind all of the other countries signatory to the treaty with the exception of Italy.

The United States has no monitor submarines. Great Britain has two of 1,600 tons each. Neither Japan, France, or Italy have any.

In submarines of from 800 to 1,000 tons the United States has fifty built ranging up to their promise, will be individually larger, faster, and in every way more effective carriers than each. The Akagi is a converted battle cruiser with a speed of 28.5 knots, and the Kaga is a converted battleship with a speed of 23 plus knots.

Neither France nor Italy has any carriers built. France has one building of 21,160 tons and a speed of 21.6 knots. She was originally designed as a battleship and is being converted into a carrier.

Lexington, Saratoga Top List.
The Lexington and Saratoga, if they live up to their promise, will be individually larger, faster, and in every way more effective carriers than each. The Akagi is a converted battle cruiser with a speed of 28.5 knots, and the Kaga is a converted battleship with a speed of 23 plus knots.

Under the terms of the treaty the United States and Great Britain are allowed 135,000 tons of aircraft carriers. Japan is allowed 11,000 tons, and France and Italy are allowed 60,000 tons each.

We have at the present time one carrier, the Langley, of 12,700 tons, and two carriers, the Lexington and Saratoga, of 31,000 tons each, now building. The Langley is a converted collier of slow speed and may not in any way be considered a modern carrier. She was and is considered experimental.

Great Britain has four carriers already built. Three of these—the Argus, of 14,450 tons; the Hermes, of 10,950 tons, and the Eagle, of 22,790 tons—are ships of medium speed, and while of use as gunners, are not in any way to be classed with the Lexington and Saratoga. Three other carriers—the Furious, already completed, and the Glorious and the Courageous under construction—are of substantially 19,000 tons each.

British Capacity Twice as Large.
These ships have a speed of 31 knots, and while several knots slower and smaller ships than the Lexington and Saratoga, they will still be effective, up-to-date carriers. The aggregate carrying capacity of the British carriers will be nearly twice that of the Lexington and the Saratoga.

Japan has one small carrier built of 9,500 tons, but her speed is only 25 knots and her carrying capacity is very small. She is building two ships, the Akagi and the Kaga, of 26,300 tons each. The Akagi is a converted battle cruiser with a speed of 28.5 knots, and the Kaga is a converted battleship with a speed of 23 plus knots.

Neither France nor Italy has any carriers built. France has one building of 21,160 tons and a speed of 21.6 knots. She was originally designed as a battleship and is being converted into a carrier.

LAMBASTE US, TOO, RUSSIA TELLS BRITAIN

Soviets Reply Firmly to Threat of Break.

MOSCOW, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Fulfilling the desire for peace of the laboring masses of the soviet union, and in accordance with the wishes of the soviet government, the soviet government will continue its policy of peace with any other countries, and will sincerely welcome any mutual step toward peace on the part of Great Britain.

The Russian note was prepared by Mr. Litvinoff, acting foreign minister, and handed to William Peters, acting minister of the British trade mission, at London last night. Just an hour before it was given to the British newspaper, the foreign office with the note from the American and other foreign correspondents, ostensibly to receive the text before it was published by the foreign newspapers.

Congratulatory but Firm.

A tone of conciliation and moderation but firmness permeates the note, which declares:

"The soviet government confirms Mr. Litvinoff's assurances to Great Britain of the desirability of removing all existing difficulties and causes of mutual misunderstanding, and the necessity of restoring normal relations between the two countries."

Mr. Litvinoff matches almost line for line the anti-British epithets used by soviet commissars and newspapers, as quoted by Sir Austen Chamberlain's press, with similar uncompromising expressions of Winston Churchill, Lord Lansdowne, L. C. M. Amery, and other British ministers.

Complaint is made that the British government has failed to adduce any concrete evidence of the violation of existing agreements by the soviet, concluding itself "with a single accusation based on the false Zinovieff letter, the authors of which went unpunished."

Under no agreement exists limiting the liberty of the press or speech within the boundaries of either country, Mr. Litvinoff argues the impossibility of regarding as anti-British propaganda either the soviet analysis of British policy toward foreign countries or soviet discussions respecting the certainty of a world revolution.

The note alludes to Sir Austen Chamberlain's threat to annul the agreement or sever diplomatic relations if Great Britain's latest demands are not complied with, and declares that this will frighten nobody in Russia, and concludes:

"If the British government thinks that such a threat is demanded by the interests of the British people and the peace of the world, the British government will assume full responsibility for the ensuing consequences."

SHERWOOD EDDY PREDICTS BRIGHT RUSSIAN FUTURE

Expects U. S. Recognition for Soviet Rulers.

Sherwood Eddy, religious educator and economist, yesterday told 2,000 Chicago Forum hearers that Russia, conducting the world's greatest governmental experiment, will succeed within a short time in restoring that country among the leading nations.

Mr. Eddy recently returned from Russia, where he told his audience in the Erlanger theater yesterday that Russia, by three changes it can easily make, should be recognized by the United States. These three changes, outlined by President Coolidge as compensation of despoiled American citizens, payment of debts to this country contracted by the previous regime, and discontinuance of propaganda in this country.

"When Russia makes these three changes, especially the last, this country ought to recognize that nation," Mr. Eddy said. "All other civilized nations have done so, and we cannot hold back, merely because we do not agree with Russia's form of government."

"We did not agree with the czarist form, but we recognized it. It is better to bind Russia with trade and peace agreements, than to anger her by outlawing her."

Mr. Eddy deplored the attitude of communists in Russia toward the former aristocracy, but he praised the ideals of the great mass of Russian people. He also decried the growth of atheism.

"There is no reason why America should fear the propaganda of the handful of radicals in this country who are powerless against the education, wealth and civilization of America," he said.

M'ERLANE ALIBI
WITNESSES TO GO ON STAND TODAY

Valparaiso, Ind., Feb. 27.—(Special.)—Attorneys for Frank McErlane, Chicago beer gangster, on trial for the murder of Attorney Thad Fancher, today will present the first of fifteen alibi witnesses who it is said will tell of the defendant's presence elsewhere at the time of the slaying.

Friends of McErlane will take the stand to testify that he was a spectator at a cock fight at the Sag on the Chicago-Joliet road when Fancher was slain, defense attorneys said. It is their contention that John O'Reilly, now serving a life sentence for the murder, drove McErlane's automobile on the night of the killing. Other witnesses have said they saw O'Reilly and Alex McCabe leave Chicago for Indiana and McErlane was not along.

Trip Tuesday.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Thousands of persons today filed past the biers of Capt. Clinton F. Woolsey of Michigan and Lieut. John L. Benton of California to pay last tribute to these pan-American flyers killed when their hydroplane, the L'Etroit, crashed with a companion member of the squadron, the New York, over the Palomar flying field yesterday.

The bodies lay in state until 10 a. m. tomorrow when they will be taken to the Episcopal cathedral, where religious services will be held. Afterwards they will be transferred to the liner Vaulain for the 29 day voyage to New York. The steamer is scheduled to sail at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

Other Flyers Carry On.
Maj. Herbert A. Dargue and Lieut. Whitehead, who saved their lives with parachutes by jumping from the New York immediately after the crash, went to Palomar this morning with the other American flyers to inspect the St. Louis and San Francisco, the surviving planes of the squadron here, preparatory to a resumption of the pan-American flight Tuesday.

The entire garrison of the city, including the cavalry, artillery, and aviation branches, will render military honors during all of the ceremonies for the dead aviators.

Always Sends Condolences to Coolidge.
How the Argentine people feel over the mishap is officially expressed in messages from President Marcelo Al-var and Admiral Domeq Garcia. "In the name of the people and government of Argentina," the chief executive cabled to President Coolidge, "I desire to send to you an expression of the profound sorrow that has been caused by the accident which resulted in the deaths of Woolsey and Benton."

The pan-American flight will continue eventually with four planes, Maj. Richardson, United States military attaché here, said today. The St. Louis and San Francisco, he said, would resume the flight from the Buenos Aires base on Tuesday and the San Antonio, now in Chile, would join them at the nearest point, possibly Montevideo. A fourth plane will join the squadron in Venezuela.

BABY SCALDED IN WATER PAIL DIES.
Hess Stump, 2 years old, 5309 West 25th street, Chicago, died yesterday at his home of scalds received when he fell into a pail of hot water a week ago.

NAB RUM RUNNERS AFTER ARREST OF BOY HIGH JACKER

Five rum runners, each driving an automobile, were halted by prohibition agents early yesterday in Gary, Ind., in connection with an alleged syndicate operating between Detroit and Chicago. One man escaped.

"Father made me do it," was the story told to Prohibition Agents Jack Wilkins and Elliot Neff by George Malloy, a frail 16 year old boy, who was arrested last week as a high-jacker.

Young Malloy said his father, Daniel, 47, would go out under police protection to hold up known rum runners. Then they would take the liquor to an isolated farm near Velparaiso and resell it.

Arabian Nights Entertainment

You have enjoyed giving free rein to your imagination in listening to the Arabian Nights Entertainment broadcast by W-G-N.

While the colorful imagery of the Orient and imagination of the Oriental type of mind have contributed to the Occident much of a pleasurable and beneficial nature in music, story, and art, this mental attribute (naturally given to romancing), when turned to the activities of barter and trade, is often quite our of harmony with the practical American idea of cold-fact, dollar-for-dollar value.

In the pricing of

ORIENTAL RUGS

PUSHMAN'S, more than two generations ago, established and maintained a definite standard of dollar-for-dollar value. While no one will question the romantic and artistic value of ORIENTAL RUGS, you are not asked to pay for anything but intrinsic value at PUSHMAN'S.

Here the actual worth of a rug is based on its cost laid down in Chicago, plus a fair and reasonable profit—and the price, plainly marked, is the price to all.

Is it any wonder, then, that through all these years PUSHMAN'S has enjoyed an ever widening circle of friends and customers, whose good will, confidence and patronage now make necessary—before the southern army of the Cantonese occupied that city.

News to this effect was brought here by an eyewitness, a Presbyterian missionary, who said that a day before the occupation of Hangchow by the Cantonese large numbers of the northern soldiers demanded money from the chamber of commerce.

Members of this body, knowing the southerners were near, tried to put off the demands with promises. This was unsatisfactory to the northern soldiers, who marked out a section of the city a mile square, containing the best shops and including those of the silversmiths and immediately looted everything in sight. They then returned to the chamber and asked if they wanted more looting, whereupon the members handed out $40,000 in cash.

Hundreds Are Butchered.

The next morning, with the knowledge that the southerners were fast approaching, organized corps of armed civilians began to attack and slaughter all northern soldiers and civilian looters they could find. Hundreds were butchered in this man hunt, the missionary said.

In detailing some of the scenes during the reign of terror the eyewitness said he saw one looted soldier dragged out into the open and kicked and trampled to death. Another had his head completely blown off.

The treatment received from the southerners, the missionary said, made the citizens of Hangchow welcome the Cantonese. The latter's officers were smartly uniformed and their soldiers well armed. Six ponies allotted to every thousand men carried machine guns.

"SWORD VS. PLOW"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LA PAZ, Bolivia, Feb. 25.—The Paraguayan advances in the Chaco are preoccupying Bolivia to such an extent that one of the local papers demands that defense of the region should be carried out, not only with the plow, but with the sword. "It being too late now to do it with the plow alone."

Paraguay has purchased 100 motor trucks and has contracted for 40,000 Mennonite families to settle in the Chaco.

The entire Chaco is crossed by several Paraguayan railways: one from Puerto Guarani, on the Paraguay river, 80 miles toward the interior; another from Puerto Maria, 30 miles long; another from Puerto Saiz, westward for 70 miles; another from Puerto Casado toward advanced positions in the west, for 200 miles, and a last one from Puerto Pinasco toward advanced Paraguayan outposts, for 100 miles, or 450 miles in all. There is also, it is said, a Paraguayan government road 150 miles long, from Itarubi to Nacava, in the Bolivian Chaco.

Their coolies were well paid and well fed.

Overworked Coolies Shot.
The missionary confessed that the conditions surrounding the laborers of the southerners were very bad. Their coolies often worked until nearly ready to drop when they were shot as useless.

Southern soldiers, the missionary said, generally refrained from looting when they reached Hangchow, except in the homes of foreigners. Such places were sacked.

BILL SEEKS HALT ON POLITICIANS IN CHURCH ROBES

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Resolutions proposing a congressional inquiry into the political activities of the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ in America, and the sources of income which permit the council to maintain a powerful legislative lobby in Washington, are to be introduced in the house tomorrow by Representative Arthur M. Free (Rep., Calif.).

The resolutions are the direct result of charges recently published in the magazine Patches, asserting that the council, which boasts an annual budget of over $1,000,000 through subsidiary and affiliated organizations, falsely claims to speak for 20,000,000 church members when, in fact, it is "cooperating with and frequently working under the direction of radical groups"—the third international, the American Civil Liberties union, and others.

Mr. Free's resolution would authorize the house judiciary committee to invite officials of the council to answer the charges "that the council is attempting to take charge of affairs of the civil government and is continually adding to its program," the attempted management of affairs which are distinctly nonreligious and outside of the missions of the church as most members see it.

The resolution would also have the council's officials answer whether "among the leaders of the federal council are men who are also active and influential directors in many radical subversive organizations," and whether the council "from its inception has combated every measure of adequate defense for the nation—campaigning against preparedness even as the country was being drawn into the world war."

The special charges which Mr. Free wishes explained away are that when the league of nations covenant was pending before the senate the council falsely claimed that 20,000,000 church members were demanding that the United States should join the league and later succeeded in convincing the senate that the same 20,000,000 were demanding that the United States adhere to the world court; also that the controlling group of the council favors cancellation of the foreign debt.

Finally the resolution seeks to discover if "the final object of the controlling group" is not "a united or state church with power to deal with all political and economic questions, even to the tariff." It is declared "the entire program of the federal council" appears "contrary to the teachings of Christ" and "is paganism under the guise of Christianity," according to many church members themselves.

And this is the Letter which Precipitated into your midst an Avalanche of unprecedented Oriental Rug Bargains

The Nahigian Brothers collection of Oriental Rugs is the finest the industry affords—the most comprehensive in America. And this sincere sacrifice sale is your opportunity to secure "the absolute best," at reductions that can only be classified as "genuine bargains."

INDEED, no American institution has ever equaled this sale of Oriental Rugs, either in value-giving, variety of selection, or sincerity of purpose. When we learned definitely that we must surrender to Carson Pirie Scott & Co. one-half of our present quarters, the command caught us at high-tide—we realized the absolute necessity of disposing of over $2,000,000 worth of our fine Orientals at once, in order to keep the faith. And so, we broke the news to you—and invited your aid and co-operation. We thank you for your quick and sympathetic response. But much remains to be done—and this great Sacrifice Sale of Oriental Rugs continues with interest unabated.

THE FARMERS LOOK AHEAD.

The President's veto of the McNary-Haugen surplus control bill ends all hope of legislation for the relief of agriculture at this session of congress. Many thousands of farmers, particularly in the middle west, are keenly disappointed. The McNary-Haugen bill was their bill not only in the sense that it was intended to improve their economic position; it was theirs in the sense that they devised it. The farmers had seen their bill defeated in congress at a previous session, but returned to the attack at this session with unbroken courage and resource. They converted a congressional minority into a majority, only to see their work frustrated by the veto.

The sense of frustration can do much harm to the farmers' cause. It can bring the leaders of the movement to abandon all hope of achieving the desired results with the tactics pursued thus far and to organize instead an independent agrarian party. History counsels against such a plan. Half a dozen such parties have been buried in the nation's past. They achieved little for the farmer except further to disappoint his hopes.

The farm leaders should take courage from the success they have already. The west has at last defeated the east in toe-to-toe fighting in both houses of congress. The result was achieved by painstaking organization and a strong sense of regional interest. The same methods will succeed in future when measures for farmer relief come before congress. The east cannot stave off agricultural relief forever. The President himself is willing to admit the justice of the farmers' claim to a fairer distribution of the national income. This is certainly not the moment to seek new avenues of political action. What is needed is more organizing within the established political structure and a continuation of the intense campaign which was so nearly crowned with success. Sentiment is growing in support of the farmers' cause. The farmers are underpaid. Manufacturers and merchants as well as farmers are suffering in consequence of the limited purchasing power of the rural regions. The farmers with justice and the self-interest of many sections of the population on their side will triumph in the end if they do not now yield to despair.

THE FOREIGN PALES IN CHINA.

There is a great deal of false sentiment among the liberal minded respecting the foreign concessions in Chinese cities. It need not be denied that they involve some injustices or that the system they represent is perfect, or that new arrangements respecting their government, taxation, and other regulation may not properly be made. For example, the foreign concession at Shanghai contains a large Chinese population, nearly a million, and substantial Chinese enterprises, yet Chinese have no representation on the municipal council, or at least have had none until very recently. They have been taxed without representation, and their extremists are demanding that they be given a proportionate voice in municipal affairs and even police control. But Chinese men of substance, who enjoy control and prosperity in the settlement, are not anxious for immediate sweeping changes, though they ask, as we think, justly, for a greater participation in the government of the concession. But the notion spread by political rhetoric and sentimental partisanship in America is that these concessions are nothing but unjustifiable invasions and tyrannical impositions upon the Chinese. It would be nearer the truth to say that in origin they are foreign paleos or ghettos where foreigners in the old days settled not merely because they could not live under Chinese conditions but because the Chinese did not want them in the Chinese quarters. It is nonsense to assume that these concessions exist merely because they were forced upon the Chinese by men of war. Under the Manchu empire the court and government detested foreigners and held them in contempt as barbarians. Some recognition of foreign dignity and interest was brought about by force or the threat of force, but the merchant classes wanted to trade with foreigners and profited by their presence in China.

These foreign paleos were better places to live in, at least according to our occidental standards, than the Chinese towns, but that was because the foreigners were able to maintain to some extent their own standards of living, of hygiene, of justice, of civil order. In time these paleos have become prosperous urban districts, to which many Chinese have resorted for profit or security. At Shanghai the international settlement and the French concession, which is contiguous, though administratively separate, make a great modern city in themselves, with fine streets, electric light, street cars, and modern sanitation. It has a splendid water front and fine hotels and office buildings. The British concession at Tientsin, where Americans and other foreigners live and do business, is three miles from the Chinese city and was built on purchased land, then swampy and of little value. If these and other foreign quarters were imposed upon the old exclusiveness of the haughty Manchu empire, it is nevertheless nonsense to talk of them as if they were injurious encroachments. China could have had no important commercial relations with the outside world if the foreigners who developed and sustained them had not had the protection of these districts and, whatever unjust conditions may have attended their development, they have brought benefits to China and the Chinese which far outweigh these errors.

If China can reorganize itself and become a great modern society, these concessions in due time will pass away as foreign jurisdictions and be taken into the Chinese political system. But meanwhile their protection by the foreign powers is a right and a duty. They are, of course, tempting prizes to the Chinese war lords and to such Chinese as have been taught to believe that the expropriation of wealth is justifiable and desirable. But we think the more scrupulous and intelligent of the Chinese realize that they represent values which it is to the advantage of China to preserve. They represent relations which especially a China aspiring to modern progress and a place of honor among civilized states must conserve.

CANADA HAS ANNEXED SOME AMERICAN STATES.

Expert engineering testimony before the Supreme court referee, Charles E. Hughes, in the Illinois water diversion hearing shows in detail the impairment of the lakes to the gulf waterway with various reductions of water withdrawal from Lake Michigan through the Chicago river and sanitary canal.

Diversion restricted to 1,000 cubic feet a second would reduce depths, require more locks, increase construction cost, increase maintenance cost, increase carrying costs and decrease the value of the waterway to the American territory which it is intended to serve.

Opposition to an adequate water diversion is offered by Canadian water power and navigation interests and by American lake states such as Ohio, Wisconsin, Michigan, Minnesota, and New York. The responsibility of the Chicago diversion for the difficulties caused by low lake levels is a completely exploded fiction.

The small effect which it has is insignificant when considered with the major causes and is entirely removable by engineering. The American states opposed to the Chicago diversion are opposed to the development of the gulf waterway. That opposition is not only senseless but it is prejudicial to the American interests in regions in which these states are.

The valley states have been for the St. Lawrence waterway, but they cannot surrender their economic rights in such a contest. Recently a Canadian of imagination said that it would soon be found advisable and practical for Canada to annex some American territory.

The facts seem to indicate that the annexation already has taken place and that Ohio, New York, Wisconsin, etc., are entitled to representation at Ottawa.

WASHINGTON BOULEVARD IS BEST.

The west side needs a boulevard to the loop. The west side has been reluctant to spend money on improvements, but sentiment is now so strong that there is reason to hope that something will soon be accomplished. At present the principal obstacle is the selection of a street for improvement. Washington boulevard, we believe, has obvious advantages of location which entitle it to most serious consideration. It has other advantages as well.

First of them is the fact that Washington boulevard can be converted into a broad motor highway with less expenditure of time and money than would be required to broaden any other street under consideration. From Garfield park westward the widening can be accomplished by taking advantage of the broad lawns and sidewalks on either side of the street. The trees can be saved by transplanting them. East of the park much can be accomplished by remodeling the houses to do away with the old fashioned front porches, which take up room and are of no real service. The remodeling of old houses for the same purpose made Fifth avenue in New York. Relatively few buildings between Garfield park and Union park need be torn down to make way for the improvement.

East of Ashland avenue, and particularly between Halsted street and the river, many buildings will have to be wrecked in part, but nearly all of them are old and run down. Some of them are the means of shacks and their removal will be a distinct gain. In this regard Washington boulevard is far more suitable for improvement than Jackson or any other street under discussion, because Washington boulevard has relatively few modern buildings close to the loop. From the river eastward the street could be left as it is, because Wacker drive provides a direct connection with Michigan boulevard.

WORTH THE PRICE.
[Ogle County Reporter (Oregon, Ill.)]

The result of Len Small's foray against the Supreme court of this state, as evidenced by the indorsement of Justice Stone registered in the Peoria preliminary convention last Wednesday, affords grounds for hope that the disintegration in political morals in this state obtaining since Len Small grabbed the reins of power has finally passed its crisis.

It is high time.

Small's perperations, however impossible to reconcile with any standard of personal scruple, have been, in a final analysis, merely the manifestation of a spirit of lawless usurpation on the part of an individual. Society maintains courts and retention institutions as a bulwark protection against individualistic tendencies of comparable character.

No one conversant with Len Small's typical method and attitude toward opportunity assuring personal advantage is surprised because of the direction or the latitude that his motive has taken. Even Small was timid in his early essay at flouting the law—as witness his flight from the sheriff of Sangamon county when that official was seeking to serve Small with a warrant issued following the finding of a criminal indictment against Small. Len Small's attained sphere of temerity has been a matter of progression. He was far from manifesting a spirit of hostility toward Supreme court justices a few years ago. Quite contrary. His attitude toward Supreme court domain was that of the suppliant if not the servile sycophant.

The condition that has tended to inflame Len Small's eleventh hour type of courage to a point where he dares to take hostile issue with the Supreme court of this state is the thing that ought to arrest the attention of people of Illinois. It has inspired a feeling of contempt for the people of Illinois in the public mind of the nation outside this state.

Len Small's temerity, which has led him, after virtually achieving control of the state legislature, through methods of coercion, seduction and direct and indirect manipulation, to seek the subjection of the Supreme court has for its source the knowledge that a potential body of the people of this state had by a majority vote reflecting him as governor accorded him immunity from the exercise against him of law, moral, political, or constitutional.

WHAT DRIVES MEN TO WINTER VACATIONS.

THIS is the season when most people who take a winter vacation slip away to some more attractive winter-spring climate. The principal outward urge sending them away is social in type. Others are going. Business and social associates can be found away from the temporary residents and, what is more, they have time and bent to play golf, to swim, dance, and otherwise disport themselves.

Deeper down is a biologic urge which is not so easily realized. This is the sickly season. The death rate among the stay-at-homes is high. The sickness rates due to coughs and colds, pneumonia and its allies are high. Of course, the escape death many lose time from work because of sickness.

Huntington's statistics show the winter to be a period of low efficiency. Why stay at home when the weather is so good in the way of initiative planning and worth while deciding? What's the good in merely holding down a swivel chair?

There is even a deeper biologic urge to go and one that is even harder to recognize. It has been proved that plants have a photosensitive substance called chlorophyll which has the power to absorb the sun's rays and use them to build, or assist in building, necessary vitamins and other chemicals required for vigor. Perhaps there is more than one of these photosensitive substances in plants required for their vigor.

Bayless has suggested that carotin is another substance of this character. It is a matter of common information that plants grown in the dark are pale, white, soft, and unhealthy. And in men there is something of the same sort, though we do not yet know as much about it as we should. Children grown in dark homes are also pale and soft and lack vigor. We see the same thing in people who live in cellars.

Morris Birkbeck moved to Edwards county, southern Illinois, from England in 1817. In writing of the people and the region he said:

"Buried in the depths of the boundless forest, the broods of health never reaches these poor wanderers. They are all and pale, like vegetables that grow in a vault pining for light."

In man there is a chemical something which pines for light. It has the power to synthesize sunlight and to build it up into energy, vigor, and resistance to disease.

In northern climates, especially around industrial cities, there is not much sunlight in the winter months, and what there is is not the kind the body is pining for. Sun rays that come on the slant do not contain much of it. In northern climates the sunlight is always badly slanted in winter. Farther south, this is less so. Rays that pass through smoke, dust, and cloud are not what the body calls pine for. There is this deeper biologic urge driving men to winter vacations.

STORED WATER NOT HARMFUL.

S. S. B. writes: I have a summer cottage in Wisconsin without a well; consequently I have to go to town and pump water from a well there 100 feet deep into a five gallon milk can. This can is only used for the water and for nothing else, and we always put the cover on tight. It is dangerous to drink this water after it is twenty-four to forty-eight hours old?

REPLY.
No. I assume the water is good in the first place and that you keep the can clean. Storing water is an effective method of ridging it of bacteria. However, your storage period is too short for much purification.

COLDS NOT SEASONAL.
Anxious Mother writes: Is it safe for my daughter to go to Chicago and later to New York at this season of the year? She has never been north before in winter. She has spent several months north in summer.

REPLY.
I think so. Winter-spring is the sickly season in the north, but pneumonia and colds are not peculiar to any climate. Storing water in a badly ventilated house or frequently indoor crowds in winter-spring is in danger wherever he is.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—Who pays for water meters and their installation, the city or the landlord, or the tenant? Does each tenant have a meter so that each tenant pays his own water bill? J. T. Chicago. The city of Chicago pays for the meter and for the installation of same. One water meter is installed to control the water supply to one premises.

WHO PAYS THE TAXES?
Chicago, Feb. 28.—[Friend of the People.]—A man has a building lot, partly paid for, and owes $500 more money. An agreement is drawn up by which B accepts A's lot as payment. A was to continue to pay on the lot until it was fully paid for. In the meantime who has to pay the taxes and special assessments? The agreement does not specify particularly. G. D. Chicago. It seems probable that the agreement contains some language which would some light upon the problem, but in the absence of such words we would say that A is under no obligation to pay the taxes, the reason being that he was never under any obligation to pay the taxes, but he is under an obligation to keep his title clear. Now that the property belongs to B, B is under no obligation to pay the taxes.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

FEBRUARY 28, 1862.
EDITORIAL.—We publish today the inaugural address of Jefferson Davis, upon his installation in the office of president of the confederate states for the ensuing year. It reads like a funeral service, or the dying speech of a convicted criminal protesting his innocence on the gallows. Washington's birthday was celebrated by the solemn funeral of the nation, and yet he hence he will be hung or in exile. In the course of his traitorous harangue, Davis admits that the rebel arms are suffering and reverses just now, but he relies upon that, and expects that the north must ultimately sink under the heavy public debt incurred in maintaining the war. Davis admits plainly enough that it is a slavish rebellion in Illinois, he regarded it as such, and that slavery is at the bottom of the war. Slavery must rule or the Union must perish is the alternative.

WASHINGTON.—Benjamin Starke of Oregon, charged with disloyalty, and who held credentials from the governor, was admitted to a seat in the senate by a vote of 26 to 19. Several Republicans said they couldn't help voting to admit him, because of the law, although they would immediately vote against him on charges to expel him.

BOSTON.—The death of President Felton of Harvard college, at Chester, Pa., created a profound sensation in Cambridge and in this community generally.

ST. LOUIS.—Maj. Gen. Halleck sent a message to Maj. Gen. McClellan, informing him that Gen. Curtis has taken possession of Fayetteville, Ark. The enemy burned part of the town before leaving. Price and McCulloch have retreated across the Boston mountains in great confusion.

CHICAGO.—Capt. Axel H. H. Sillversparre's battery of light artillery, which was organized last January and has been stationed at Camp Douglas, left for the seat of war. Capt. Sillversparre is a young Swedish nobleman who came to this country by service of his sovereign to give his consent to put down the rebellion.

A FISHER LAD OF ARAN.

There's a shinin' road of moonlight off the coast of Inishmaan,
With a curragh lyin' black against the quay;
Solemn still the night, and dreary
Till the heart o' me is weary
With a sobbin', achin' hatred o' the sea.

For the dawn has seen the sailin' o' the fleet from Inishmaan,
With the hookers rummin' swift along the foam;
On the ebb tide they were fairin'
To the herring shoals, nor carin'
For the one forsaken curragh here at home.

Since one fisher lad of Aran has gone far from Inishmaan,
No more I climb Dun Angus' steep side,
With my sea-strained eyes a-yearnin'
Beyond where the kelp is burnin',
Out to where the boats are turnin' on the tide.

When the Connemara mountains glower back from Inishmaan,
And the roofs of Galway gleam across the bay,
When the curleys hush their wallin'
Then I never to see him sailin',
But he never more will come this homeward way.

There's a shinin' road of moonlight off the coast of Inishmaan,
With one curragh lyin' black against the quay;
But my tear-wet eyes see only
That I must be waitin' lonely
By the ceaseless, grievin' sorrow o' the sea.

BEFORE NATHANIEL POPE.

Chicago, Feb. 28.—In yesterday's issue "Old Timer" gives Nathaniel Pope much deserved praise for his great achievements for the benefit of Illinois, but he errs in giving him such excessive praise for getting that strip of land from Wisconsin, so as to give Illinois the three harbors, South Chicago, Chicago and Waukegan, when it was admitted as a state on Dec. 3, 1818. The deserves praise for his energy in getting it.

This plan of getting harbors on Lake Michigan was not original with Pope, as it had been already done by Alfred Jennings of Indiana when it was admitted as a state in 1816. The northern boundary of both Illinois and Indiana at that time was the same east and west line, touching the most southern point of Lake Michigan. As Indiana had no lake harbor then, Jennings succeeded in getting a strip of land ten miles wide from Michigan. This had four potential harbors: Trail Creek at Michigan City, Fort Creek at Waverly Beach, Calumet river at Miller, and Wolfe lake. Pope, therefore, had Jennings' example as a precedent, and figured that what was helpful for Indiana was even more so for Illinois.

Prof. E. J. Hill, the noted botanist and writer, by a careful survey in 1888, fixed this most southern point of Lake Michigan about one mile west of Broadway, Gary, and marked it.

CANAL ON GUARD
AS "FOE" FLEET
DASHES NEARERTwo "Enemy Powers" to Attack Panama at Once

BY ROY BLANK.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
PANAMA CITY, Feb. 27.—With United States fleets steaming toward the Pacific, the Panama canal army headquarters is making extensive preparations for combined maneuvers involving an "attack" on both terminals. The Pacific fleet, the "Orange," represents an Asiatic power bound by a treaty with the Atlantic fleet, the "Black." The canal forces, the "Blue," represent the United States.

Gen. Charles Martin commanding the canal forces, in outlining the maneuvers to THE TRIBUNE correspondent, said, "the basic problem involves the successful defense of the Panama canal by the existing garrison. The contributing forces for the protection of the canal are the naval patrols and the air forces of the army. The harbor defense will be army and navy airplanes. The harbor defense forces will prevent the enemy from approaching within striking distance. If unable to accomplish this, the army's mobile forces will meet the enemy on the beach to prevent them from landing or approaching."

Attack on Pacific.
"The attack on the Pacific side will represent the efforts of a large enemy force to acquire the canal and its accessories for furthering a war with the United States. The Pacific battle fleet, represented by the 'Orange,' is assumed to be a powerful attacking force with sufficient troops, transports and aviation units for a major attack on the Pacific entrance to the canal. This will include a bombardment by heavy ships and with aircraft, efforts to land troops, smoke screens, espionage and everything which might be expected from a determined enemy."

"Enemy" Off Nicaragua.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
ON UNITED STATES PACIFIC BATTLE FLEET, Feb. 27.—The great United States naval force for the Caribbean practice maneuvers will be in Nicaraguan waters tonight. The enemy fleet will stay well out to sea, with the destroyers, however, conducting a sweep near the coast.

The Mexican radio stations redoubled their signals as the fleet left Mexican waters, presumably signaling the ammunition runners for the Nicaraguan rebel forces.

In Open Boats.
U. S. S. NEW MEXICO, Off Mexico Coast, Feb. 27.—(AP)—As a result of a "torpedo attack" on the Pacific fleet, 20,000 sailors who left San Pedro with the Pacific battleships eight days ago are drifting in the Pacific in open boats. The "abandon ship" order was part of the day's maneuvers.

The "attacking" force were the destroyers, which left formation at noon on an unknown course with directions to locate the fleet convoy after dark. A "grim" spectacle was presented when the destroyers located the fleet and scored.

LISBON CARNIVAL THRONGS FROLIC IN BULLETS' WAKE

What Was Revolt About?
Portugal Wonders Now.

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LISBON, Feb. 27.—Lisbon is today in a holiday mood, just as though there had been no revolution. It is the carnival, and the streets are crowded with gayly dressed lads and girls. Many of their elders, enjoying themselves simply, as only southern people can. The holiday began last night. Every one in Lisbon attended the gala entertainment. It has not stopped since.

All night long, without a moment's interruption, the streets were filled with people and the air was filled with noise from the honking auto horns, wooden rattles, tin trumpets, and every other kind of noise maker. The streets were still crowded this afternoon. The great Praça dos Restauradores and Avenida da Liberdade were filled with milling crowds watching the battle of flowers carried on by combatants in gaily decorated automobiles, carriages, and donkey carts.

No Signs of War.
Shop and working girls promenade up and down, clad in gay national costumes, while children are running around dressed as Pierrots, sailors, and little officers. Occasionally a man in Spanish or Portuguese costume and splendidly mounted, rides up and down the Avenida.

As all are good natured, it is hardly possible to believe that a couple of weeks ago many in the crowd were working machine guns and rifles, fighting each other on the same avenue. Some of the walls along the way still bear the pock marks of bullets.

This morning, however, THE TRIBUNE correspondent had a brief glimpse of the other side of the picture. While driving past the great city prison he saw a crowd of somberly clad women at the gate. There were no gay national costumes here, no horns, rattles, or scent sprays. They were relatives of the captured revolutionaries who had come to say good-bye to the men who are to be deported. They may not see their kindfolk again. So there are still a few people in Lisbon who remember the revolution.

Wonders What It Was About.
The city, still nursing its wounds, now wonders what it was all about. It is in the position of a man who had feared to carry liquor well in the old days when liquor was what it was called, and suddenly had a big night on bootleg of the worst kind. Something happened that was totally unexpected and every one is now trying to explain what it was.

Lisbon is used to revolutions. There have been about twenty-two since the big day in 1910 when King Manoel was given a one way ticket to England. They were called revolutions, but none of the Portuguese would have recognized them under that name.

When the out of tired of being out and the ins thought they needed a rest, and had accumulated enough money for a holiday, some one marched a few troops around the town, fired off a few rifles, and announced a new

DISAPPEARANCE OF LETTERS IN COOPER'S FILES IRKS LA GUARDIA

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Investigation of impeachment charges against Federal Judge Cooper will be resumed by the house judiciary committee tomorrow with prospects that the disappearance of official letters from the judge's Albany, N. Y., office will figure prominently in the hearings.

Announcement by Dean Taylor, secretary to the judge, that letters pertaining to the impeachment investigation had been stolen, had a disquieting effect upon Representative La Guardia (Rep., N. Y.), who alleged that the judge complied with prohibition officers to betray bootleggers.

"There is one letter dated Nov. 14, 1926, which has disappeared, and I am going to find out who took it," Mr. La Guardia said. "I think I know."

He declared that if the contents of this letter were disclosed, Judge Cooper would be definitely linked with a "plot" to violate the law in order to snare liquor law violators.

Search for Letters.
Syracuse, N. Y., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Investigation was started today by District Attorney Burden into the theft of letters from the files of Judge Cooper.

The files were ransacked and between 50 and 150 letters in a correspondence between Judge Cooper and Mr. Burden were taken.

government and all sorts of reforms. It was much easier than going to all the trouble of voting, and the ordinary citizens of Lisbon and Oporto enjoyed the excitement.

As for the Portuguese peasant, who pays taxes, he is not interested. The taxes are only half paid anyhow, and why should he worry if the wine crop is good and the price of cork holds up? A few months ago, however, something happened which upset the routine. In Oporto there was a general named Antonio Oscar de Fragoso Carmona. He had served in the great war as an artillery commander, was "hard boiled," and even his enemies had to admit he was honest.

At the head of a committee of officers of the army and navy who, like himself, were tired of the old methods, he came down on Lisbon with a handful of troops, overthrew the government, and announced himself president and appointed members of his committee to the cabinet.

A Hard Boiled Leader.

Another particularly "hard boiled" officer, Col. Abilio Augusto Valdes de Passos E. Souza, became minister of war. He reorganized the army. This reorganization made it possible for the army to accomplish what it did a few days ago. The old politicians rubbed their eyes at this new crowd "butting in," but they were ready to take a holiday anyway, and thought their turn soon would come again. They retired to enjoy the holiday, but it was not long before they waked up to the unpleasant developments.

Gen. Carmona and Col. Souza began to overhaul the pay rolls of the government. They noticed that in thousands of cases the names appeared on the pay rolls of four or five different departments. The investigation proved that each set of names belonged to one individual, who only attended the office on the last day of each month to sign his salary receipts. These thousands were promptly sacked, and then arose a great hullabaloo from the old politicians, whose best workers they were.

Leaders of Revolt.

At the head of the old politicians was Alfonso Costa, first president of the republic, who lives in Paris. With him were Norton de Mattois, Antonio Maria Da Silva and Bernardino Machado, former premiers, presidents, and ambassadors, all of whom disliked the new government. With the help of some disgruntled officers at Oporto they staged the first real attempt at a revolution that Lisbon and Oporto have seen since the kingdom was abolished.

The Oporto revolt was confined to these officers and soldiers and led them but in Lisbon the revolutionaries, armed mobs from the underworld and enlisted the aid of some thousands of communists. This rabble had planned to loot the city in the event of success, evidence in the hands of the government shows. However, they failed, and now several thousands of them must go to the penal colonies in Africa, where they will probably be compelled to spend the rest of their lives.

Deport Many Bad Men.

Lisbon breathes easier for the deportations, as among the deportees are included a great majority of the city's bad characters. There is every likelihood now that Portugal will get a real government. The revolution has hurried the sacking which had begun, and made possible a big reduction in the pay rolls. Reforms are being pushed at top speed by Gen. Carmona and his associates, and it is expected that the taxes soon will be cut. If this is done the peasants may take an interest and really support the government.

MRS. SCOTT WILL LEAVE HUSBAND'S BODY IN SOUTH

The body of Edward Burke Scott, husband of Mrs. Kate Condon Scott, former opera singer, will remain in the vault at St. Anthony's cemetery, New Orleans, where it was placed after he had killed himself last September. This was the decision made yesterday by Mrs. Scott, whose 24 year search for the missing man ended recently at the cemetery.

Scott, who lived and died in New Orleans under the name of William E. Victor, disappeared soon after his marriage on May 16, 1903, at New Haven, Conn. At the time Mrs. Scott was in the middle west, having decided to continue her singing career. As a real estate operator in New Orleans Victor had amassed an estate estimated at $185,000. Mrs. Scott, who resides at 715 Rush street, has put in proofs as his widow and under the old French law of Louisiana will inherit at least half the estate, it is said.

INSULL RETURNS; KEEPS MUM ON HIS SENATE ORDEAL

Samuel Insull returned to Chicago from Washington yesterday, but he was even less communicative to newspaper men than he was to the investigating committee of the senate. "I'm not giving any interviews," he said at his Lake Shore drive residence.

One or two other questions such as whether he had collected his mileage for his two trips to Washington were tried. "I'm not giving any interviews," was the repeated response.

Man, 24, Held on Charge of Annoying Little Girl

John Faber, 24 years old, of 704 South Carpenter street, was arrested by the Hyde Park police yesterday on a charge of annoying a 6 year old girl. The child's father accused Faber who will be arraigned in the Wabash avenue court today.

Protect your family for another year. Renew your Tribune Insurance. The tremendous amount of money paid to Tribune Policyholders or their beneficiaries proves conclusively that accidents covered by the Tribune Policy really DO HAPPEN. It proves further, that Tribune Insurance does pay. In many instances large sums of money have been paid for accidents not covered at all by the provisions of policies offered through other newspapers.

As stated in the policy, the value of all specific indemnities increases 10% EACH YEAR your policy is renewed, without additional cost to you.

You may renew your Tribune-Federal Insurance for another year simply by sending the coupon on page 3 with your renewal fee of $1.00 as directed to "Tribune Insurance Dept., Federal Life Insurance Company, 168 North Michigan Avenue, Chicago. You need not send in your policy. A receipt will be mailed to you. If you haven't a Tribune Policy, get one for yourself and every member of your family—Use coupon on page 3—Now!

CLABAUGH RAPS POLICE WAY OF HANDLING CASES

Parole Dispute.

Mr. Clabaugh, chairman of the parole board, yesterday in answer to charges that confirmed Crook let out at the end of their terms.

Mr. Clabaugh Saturday declared when presented with a list of names who will be given hearings on March 8, that he had no blanket promises. If police want to send criminals to the penitentiary, let them come out of their worst crimes in a conviction on a lighter term.

Mr. Clabaugh pointed out that prisoners who receive one to ten year sentences are eligible for parole at the end of one month. Five year prisoners are eligible for parole at the end of three months, and three year prisoners are eligible at the end of one month, and ten year prisoners are eligible at the end of four years, three months, and ten days, the time reduction being for good behavior.

Prisoners are eligible for hearing less release, until they have served their minimum sentences," Mr. Clabaugh said. "But every prisoner who is entitled to a hearing is given one."

Among the prisoners who will be heard on March 8 are Roosevelt and James Hunter, bandits who were sentenced to ten years for robbery, but who were sentenced to ten year terms on their plea of insanity to grand larceny.

James Means of Conviction.

Charges of robbery with guns were taken off, and the other six charges have never even gone to the grand jury. At the time of the March hearing, the men will have served 11 months, and will be eligible for parole hearings. Clabaugh assailed the practice used in convicting these men.

"I am not flooding the state with whitewashed prisoners," Mr. Clabaugh said. "During the nine months I have been chairman of the board, I have not signed one final discharge for a parolee. And during this time Gov. Small has granted only one pardon, that of a 15 year old girl sentenced for chicken thefts. This condition could not be equalled elsewhere, and shows the improvement we are making in our pardon and parole system."

YIDDIES MILLER ARRESTED AGAIN.

Yiddies Miller, who has been arrested many times for picking pockets, was taken into custody yesterday by Sgt. John Gibbons of the detective bureau on a Haled street car. Miller has been fined fifteen times in the Municipal court.

Mr. Clabaugh said yesterday in answer to charges that confirmed Crook let out at the end of their terms.

SOUTH CAROLINA 'BLUE SUNDAY' NABS GOLFERS

Columbia, S. C., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Century old "blue laws," invoked in South Carolina for a "tight" Sunday, today resulted in the arrest of golfers in Greenville as they went to the links.

It was the state's second "blue" Sabbath. Drug stores were either closed or catered solely to those purchasing medicines, while no gasoline filling stations were operating.

At Aiken officers refused to allow newsboys to sell papers on the streets, but golf and polo were played, with no arrests made.

Greenville had reports of a "cigarette bootlegger" gang operating there, selling their banned wares at 50 cents a package.

CO-EDS AT N. U. DEBATE ISSUE OF CAMPUS SMOKING

Expect Yes or No Ruling in Next Two Weeks.

Traditions are occasionally broken at home and at school, and there is a likelihood that with the completion of fourteen sorority houses and one open dormitory on the new woman's campus at Northwestern university, in Evanston, a new generation of co-eds will establish a new policy with regard to smoking while attending that institution.

It has been a tradition handed down by the girls since the founding of the university 75 years ago that smoking is taboo among the co-eds. It has also been a tradition that the men will not smoke while on the campus. There is no university rule recognized or enforced by the offices of the respective deans.

However, times have changed the habits of the college girl, and now it appears inevitable that the girl will alter the traditions of her alumnae sisters.

Eye on Eastern Schools.
Watchful eyes have recorded the actions of eastern colleges in establishing smoking rooms or campus areas for the feminine smoker.

Listening ears have heard comments, pro and con, on the subject, and now the girls at Northwestern are considering certain plans, which at this time they do not care to divulge, according to Miss Alice Dibble, president of the Women's Self-Government association.

One sorority girl recently stated that 80 per cent of the sorority girls smoke. Most of them are obliged to do it on the city, although girls are frequently seen puffing away at fags in the most popular eating establishments in Evanston. Mrs. Winifred Richardson, dean of women, recently visited one of these places to inquire of the manager whether "any of her girls ever smoked in the place."

Ask Girls to Refrain.
In compliance with her request, the management has asked girls to refrain from smoking. Yet the puff continues on the beach, in dance halls, in automobiles, in sorority houses, and in private homes.

Miss Mary Deutch, a member of the Delta Mu sorority, voiced the opinion of many of the girls when she said: "It is ridiculous to make smoking a moral issue at Northwestern."

Campus leaders among the girls approached on the subject are shy on commenting for publication and express a fear at being quoted or of expressing their personal opinion. "Dean Richardson does not like to have us talk for publication," is their most common excuse.

More Meetings to Be Held.
The girls admit, however, that meetings have been held and more are to follow, for discussion of the subject.

On June 12, 1926, ground was broken for the new woman's campus at Orrington avenue and University place. Besides one open dormitory for non-sorority girls, the following fourteen sororities will soon occupy the new quadrangle: Alpha Phi, Kappa Delta, Delta Zeta, Alpha Xi Delta, Chi Omega, Kappa Kappa Gamma, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Omicron Pi, Delta Gamma, Alpha Gamma Delta, Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Delta Delta, and Alpha Chi Omega.

Whether smoking rooms are to be established in the new dormitories will probably be decided by the girls within the next ten days, according to those in authority. At least the girls admit that an expression of opinion will be sent to the office of the dean.

DEATH MYSTERY REVEALED WITH FINDING OF SKULL

A death mystery which may date back more than 15 years came to light yesterday when William Garlike unearthed a human skull and fragments of a skeleton while removing earth from beneath his cottage at 946 Montana street.

Garlike desired to use the earth, which, so far as is known had been undisturbed beneath the house for more than 30 years, in the construction of his garage. He immediately notified Capt. John J. Naughton of the Sheffield avenue police and Coroner's Physician Jacob Goldman was summoned.

After an examination of the skull and the bones, Dr. Goldman said it was impossible to tell how long the victim had been dead or what had caused death. He pointed out several deep cuts on the skull, indicating, he believes, that the skeleton may have at one time been in possession of medical students. On the theory that murder may have been committed, Capt. Naughton set out to account for all persons who have occupied the house since its construction more than 30 years ago.

Garlike bought the place two years ago. State Representative James A. Steven, who formerly owned the house but did not occupy it, was unable to shed light on the mystery.

Pilot Whose Plane Killed 2 Guilty of Manslaughter

Los Angeles, Cal., Feb. 27.—(AP)—Carroll B. Crossan, aviator, whose plane killed two children in making a forced landing on the beach at Venice last summer, was convicted on two counts of manslaughter by a jury late last night. The jury, the second to hear the charges, had been out 28 hours. Crossan will be sentenced to death. The maximum penalty is from one to ten years on each count.

Only of Smith.

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Republican National Committee man
D. H. Hill, who is in California, forwarded to this city a statement made public today, in which he praised the achievements of the Harrison administration. He predicted that the country will again be in the hands of the Republicans in the national election next year. He also predicts a Republican victory in New York state.
Hill, who is vice chairman of the Republican national committee, personally close to President Coolidge, whom he warmly praises, that he predicted that the President will be the nominee next year.
"It seems reasonable," Mr.
Hill said, "that a country so well governed under Coolidge would turn out a party which has made such a happy and successful record."
The President's unimpeachable record, his uncommon common sense, and his homely virtues are even more appreciated now, because of the fact that they have helped to achieve the people on its record of the last six years and will carry New York and the nation.

Butler Finds Smith Sentiment.
Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia university, who returned to this city today from an eight-day trip to the middle west, said the people everywhere were interested in Gov. Smith.
"I found a great deal of sympathy for the Democratic party, Dr. Butler said.

"The only strongest, but pretty weak, I heard some of Gov. M. Butler and some of Senator Had of Missouri. But everywhere people eager to know more about Gov. Smith. His personality has won them. They are eager to know anything they can about him."
Dr. Butler said he found a great deal of sympathy everywhere in the subject of Coolidge.

"I believe not closed issue."
There is a great deal of dissatisfaction with existing conditions," he said.
There is increased open-mindedness in the subject. People are no longer willing to regard it as a closed issue."
Dr. Butler said he had heard of the question of President Coolidge succeeding himself.
There are a great many talking about
Mr. Coolidge and about Vice President Dawes," he said. "Some people thought that it would be a good time to bring forward Beveridge of Indiana or Gov. Hamill of Iowa. There was a talk of Capper of Kansas."

AID BARES SECRET OF HOUDINI'S TELEPATHY ---MINIATURE PHONE

New York, Feb. 27.—[AP.]—The late Harry Houdini's spectacular "telepathy" was disclosed today as a telephone system, for which his whole house was wired, the New York World says.

Houdini employed the ideas of Thomas A. Edison in developing a con-traption which would take the substance of thought transference.

The secret was that Houdini wore an electric belt which established an invisible connection, by electro magnetic induction, with loops of wire concealed under a carpet. When these loops were energized, by the current of a telephone circuit, invisible lines of magnetism, cutting across the turns of wire in the electric belt, generated a minute electric current. This current was the exact counterpart of the one which energized the wires beneath the carpet.

It was the sum total of this induced electrical energy which vibrated the diaphragm of a miniature telephone receiver and reproduced speech.

The trick was to pick up utterances of "thought transmitters" by means of "planted" dictaphones and then repeat these utterances on a strong telephone circuit terminating in the loops under the carpet where Houdini stood.
Louis C. Kraus, who worked with Houdini in developing the telepathy idea, said Houdini's whole house was wired. Two years ago, when experiments in telepathy in London were reported, Houdini said that there was nothing supernatural about them and that he could do as well himself by "natural means."

YANKS' OWNER
SILENT; AWAITS
BAMBINO'S PLEAHints Contract Sum
Will Be Changed.

New York, Feb. 27.—[Special.]— Babe Ruth is virtually certain to be in the Yankees lineup this season. Whether he will receive $100,000 per season for the next two campaigns is another matter. Such was the inference made today by Col. Jacob Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, after he was questioned about the Babe's lengthy letter from the coast which set forth quite clearly what Ruth wants for his labors.

Col. Ruppert merely smiled when asked if the Babe would get the $200,000 and that refund of $7,700 which Ruth insists is due him. The Yankee owner said Ruth's letter had not reached the Yankee office, but he was familiar with the contents through the newspapers.

Increased Salary Probable. "I guess Babe did not want to take any chance on the letter missing me," said the colonel. "Just to make certain of this, he gave it out to the newspapers before leaving California." Ruth may not get the $100,000 salary, but it seems reasonable to believe that there will be some adjustment in salary and that it will be upward. "Will Ruth get the $200,000 for two years?" the colonel was asked. "I have nothing to say at this time," the colonel replied. "I shall wait until Ruth gets here. Then I expect to do some talking."

"Will there be anything concerning salary?" "I cannot answer at this time. There is likely to be some change."

"Will it be a substantial one?" "I'll wait and see how the Babe feels when he reaches here. You can't do much with these cross country conferences."

"When did you last hear personally from Ruth?" "I have not heard from Ruth since the season closed last fall. He has been active all winter, and I guess has had some success in his new work."

Not Worried About Ruth. "Do you think that Ruth's success on the stage and in the movies has convinced him he can earn as much as he does in baseball?"

"I have had no access to the Babe's bankbook. I assume he is the best judge of that question. I can't make him play baseball unless he cares to."

"It was a great letter even though Babe didn't write it. I feel that some one did the writing and Babe merely nodded."

Col. Ruppert did not treat the Ruth matter seriously. In fact, he did not permit it to interfere with his regular Sunday schedule. Even the demand of a $7,700 refund did not ruffle the man who eventually must sign Ruth's checks.

"Just say for me," concluded the colonel, "that I have nothing but the kindest feeling for Babe. I will make no forecast on the salary issue. That must be adjusted in a private conference with Ruth. We hope to have this matter settled this week."

RUTH MOVES EASTWARD
Salt Lake City, Utah, Feb. 27.—[Special.]—The world's greatest one man circus is progressing steadily eastward today. Babe Ruth is going home, triumphant as a moving picture actor; going home to demand of Col. Jacob Ruppert the fattest contract in the history of baseball—$200,000 for two years, plus $7,700.

Never before was the Bambino in such great physical condition at this time of year. He trained assiduously while making his moving picture and he now weighs exactly what he wants to weigh—220 pounds.

Ruth today refused to discuss his strenuous contract demands. "The letter I sent to Ruppert explains my side of the case. That letter is my speech, and I'll not talk about the contract I ask for with any one but Ruppert," he said.

The great one man circus moves on. It will be unloaded Wednesday morning in New York for the big show.

Jimmy Delaney Near Death with Infected Left Arm

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Jimmy Delaney, light heavyweight boxer of St. Paul, Ill. with blood poisoning in a local hospital, became worse tonight and little hope was held out for his recovery. His left arm was injured two weeks ago during a fight at Cincinnati and it became infected. An operation was performed Friday and another today.

Tilden and Coen Defeat
Richards and Hunter at Net

Miami Beach, Fla., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Big Bill Tilden, ranking United States tennis player, paired with Wilbur Coen Jr., 15 year old Kansas City boy, won from Vincent Richards and Francis T. Hunter of New York in a five set exhibition doubles match at the Flamingo courts today, 7-5, 2-6, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4.

WALTER
HAGEN EASY VICTOR IN 12 HOLE MATCHOutgames Rival in
"Goat Getting."

Petersburg, Fla., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Gene Sarazen, who has been called golf's greatest goat getter, with particular reference to Walter Hagen's goat, failed today to live up to his reputation as the phantom animal. Hagen and Sarazen played the final 18 holes of their 72 hole match here this afternoon and Hagen triumphed, 8 and 7. On the last 18 holes Hagen was content to go with Sarazen, having entered the phase of the match 3 up. He took this advantage until the end at the 11th hole.

Sarazen Writes of "Goat."

Interest in the match was great among the following of the two great golfers, but an added joy was Hagen's fans when it was noted that Sarazen, appearing as an actor in Liberty magazine last November, made some rather strong remarks as to just what he could do with the aforementioned Hagen goat. It is an article appearing under his name in the magazine, published by the magazine Nov. 27, the vanquished golfer is quoted, in part, as follows:

"If I could pick my opponent for championship rounds of the important golf tournaments, in which victory is so helpful to the earning power of the professional player, I would choose an obvious victim. I would nominate Walter Hagen. . . I would make no mistake in picking him. I can beat that fellow every time in the week."

Hagen Shoots 287.

Hagen was 3 up at the end of the 18 holes at Miami on Feb. 20 and increased it to 5 up when the third round was played at Sanford last Saturday.

Hagen's medal score was 287 for the three rounds, just under even 4s, while Sarazen's total was 294. Three courses were completed in the match.

The enthusiastic gallery which followed the two star professionals in considerable representation in the baseball training camps in the city.

The gallery which followed the match included Manager John McGraw of the Giants and several major league players.

The Winnipeg Maroons, pacemakers in the American Hockey association, last night had no great difficulty in outplaying the Chicago Cardinals for a 2 to 1 victory.

The game was the last appearance of the Cardinals on the Coliseum floor for sometime, their next scheduled home appearance being with Duluth on March 16.

Winnipeg won principally because of superior passing and the ability of Bob Gardner to guard the Maroon's goal successfully on occasions when the Cardinals showed symptoms of wanting to do some scoring.

Maroons Score First.

The victors scored both of their points before the Cardinals got under the way. Their first one was in the first period in 5:20 after Brown netted the puck after taking a pass from Stanley.

The next Canadian marker came in the second period, in 3:23. Then Ralph Taylor of the Cards, who seemed to be fighting a bit harder than any of his team mates, got hold of the puck and slammed it in in short order. The time was 1:02.

Wentworth's Rib Cracked.

Cyclone Wentworth, Cardinal defensive star, was injured when he fell in the first period. A heavy examination during the intermission caused physicians to suspect one of Wentworth's ribs had been cracked but Cyclone insisted upon remaining in the game. His side will be X-rayed this morning.

Art Somers, Winnipeg forward, played through the greater part of the game with a broken bone in his hand which had just started to knit. He got the member cracked again in one of the skirmishes and retired to start his convalescence all over again.

Breaking up a five way tie for second place and dropping the former leader, Indiana, two notches, play in the Big Ten conference basketball race last week spread the contestants out in a line, with Michigan once more in the lead and with only one stumbling block between them and a championship.

The Wolverines' troubles come to a head tonight, when Purdue invades Ann Arbor for their second game of the year with the leaders. Two weeks ago Purdue handed Michigan its first defeat, and if Michigan can down its nemesis tonight, only Chicago and Iowa remain between it and the title.

Wisconsin Plays Illinois.

The Wolverines and Illinois met tonight in a game at Urbana which the Badgers must win if they intend to stay in the race, for should Purdue again upset Michigan the Badgers still have a chance to end in a three or four cornered tie.

Last week saw the race revert to form, dispensed with in the previous seven days during which time every one of the leaders received an upset. Indiana's defeat by Ohio State at Bloomington on Tuesday and Michigan's great stand against Illinois on Friday were the only unusual events of the week.

Five Games Saturday.

The other games were consistent in their results. Chicago dropped two battles to Michigan and to Iowa. Wisconsin defeated Iowa, but lost to Indiana, giving them an even average for the week. Northwestern evened matters with Minnesota by trouncing the Gophers in the return game at Evanston, and sent the Gophers definitely into the cellar for the next week.

Setters' Title
Hopes, 26-19

Chicago Tribune Press Service.
Shreveport, La., Feb. 27.—A mixed party of ball players, ex-ball players and suspects, arrived in Shreveport this day, representing the great national game of bat and ball.

Like most road shows, this one at this time carries very few members of what you might call the Broadway cast, these being Ray Schalk, who is being tried out as manager; Al Thomas, George Connally and Clyde Crouse.

There were eleven players of all ranks on the kitchen checker's tally sheet at lunch today, but the lineup for Monday breakfast will show about twenty names not counting repeaters. Then Mr. Schalk will throw a couple of pecks of repainted baseballs on the ground as his first managerial act and the spring practice will commence. Thomas and Connally will pitch slightly. Crouse will catch some. Schalk will manage to a certain extent, and Mr. Lou Comiskey, who is a peanut monger in a large way at he home grounds in Chicago, will assist the local peanut industry for a good minor league peanut boy for bleacher duty.

Fussfoot Johnson Competes.
He wants one with a good arm who is capable of going to the left for thrown nickels. This is a phase of the baseball industry seldom touched upon in the papers, but it appears that a boy with a bad throwing arm can lose a colossal number of peanuts in the course of a season to say nothing of the losses represented by muffed nickels.

The White Sox have encountered unexpected opposition in the way of counter attractions here, for it is advertised that Mr. Fussfoot Johnson, the man who made it impossible to buy a drink in New York or Chicago, will put on his act Tuesday night showing how the bunglers were beaten into quorum mallets.

The papers contain a threat that Strangler Ed Lewis and Wayne Munn, the famous head or tall brothers of the wrestling profession, will perform their repertoire at the fair grounds. The boys are known to the trade as the head or tall brothers because one lands on top about as often as the other.

So with a two day Mardi Gras carnival going on, and the Shreveport ball club of the Texas league training on its own home site, with thirty-five hands in camp, the White Sox are about as conspicuous as the band-leader of Rickard's heavyweight championship presentations.

Ride the Lobby Chairs.
The group that arrived here Sunday consisted of Frank Roth and Russell Blackburne, Schalk, Connally, Crouse, and Thomas of their regular team, and Fenner, Hal Stricklin, Bob Way, and a Mr. Binder. They found Harold Blankenship, the veteran recruit pitcher, and Jim Bates, another recruit pitcher, sitting in the saddles of the lobby chairs awaiting them.

Other mouths will advance to the room clerk's desk within the next twelve hours demanding rations and bedding, but the main group of confirmed major leaguers, including such boys as Bill Hunnefeld, Aaron Ward, Roger Peckenpaugh, Moe Berg, Bill Barrett, Johnny Mostil, and Harry McCurdy, need not come in until next Sunday.

"It is not reasonable, all this talk," the Los Angeles oil man said. "Why, I am married and have two children."

Mr. Baldwin, who is managing the European branch of C. C. Pyle's tennis circuit, slept late at his luxurious hotel this morning, but along about noon Mlle. Suzanne, Mamma Lengien, M. Feret, and Howard Kinsey took Mr. Baldwin around to show him the tennis star's home town.

CUBS PITCH CAMP
AT AVALON; OPEN
PRACTICE TODAYMcCarthy Orders 2 Drill
Sessions Each Day.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Avalon, Catalina Island, Cal., Feb. 27.—With a nice rolling, pitching thirty mile sea voyage as the final bit of their transcontinental journey, the Cubs today put themselves in a position to inaugurate spring training festivities on their island diamond tomorrow. It will be two sessions a day according to the advance orders laid down by Gen. Joe McCarthy, and when Gen. Joe says two sessions a day he means that a quantity of strenuous work is going to be done.

A half dozen or so of the members of the early troupe caught up with the day and all hands, have been counted for except three. Two of them, have been holdouts—namely: Percy Jones and Elwood English—and the third is Pete Scott, the utility fly chaser. Scott was supposed to rejoin along with the rest, but became involved in a few important details at his home in Stockton, Cal., so was detained. He will be here tomorrow, says McCarthy. The latter knows nothing, however, about the two other absentees, neither is he worrying.

Wrigley Greets Team.
All the athletes had to do today was sit and be merry. As they stepped off the boat at noon they were greeted by William Wrigley, the king of the island. Then they had an elaborate luncheon at Wrigley's hotel, and later walked a mile down Wrigley's boardwalk to the Wrigley bath house, which is used as dressing quarters for the team. They were fitted out with uniforms by a trainer. That necessary detail attended to, the members of the troupe were free to devote whatever means they could to work up a healthy appetite for dinner. By tomorrow night some of them may not be able to sit down to their meals and are determined to enjoy themselves while they can.

When the boat landed McCarthy was pressed for an interview as to his plans for tomorrow. He spoke as follows:

"Well, you know a little of the same old stuff both morning and afternoon. That was almost a record breaking speech for McCarthy, at least, so far given to the free use of words but he more than compensated for this by making good on what little he does say out loud. Later in the day McCarthy was in conference with his lieutenant, Jimmy Burke and Mike Doolan. Doolan has again been assigned the arduous task of being policeman to the ball bag. Last season he did not lose a ball.

Root, Beck Join Mates.
Among those joining up today was Charley Root, the star heater of the staff, who made quite a name for himself last season. Root has been playing a great amount of golf in California during the winter and is in pretty fair trim right now. Clyde Beck, the youthful utility infielder, who also is a Californian, seems in equally good physical condition. Clyde has become a proud papa since the close of the season.

Despite the efforts of the Pacific to cause disturbances during the trip over this morning only two athletes proved themselves poor sailors. One was Jim Cooney, the other Jack Churry. They were whiter than a painter's overalls as they staggered off the boat.

conference gets into action. Michigan plays at Chicago in a game which the Wolverines should have little trouble winning, while Indiana and Purdue, playing Northwestern and Minnesota respectively, should continue their string of victories. Illinois goes to Wisconsin for its second game of the week with the Badgers, while Iowa and Ohio meet at Columbus.

MICHIGAN PAIR GAINS

The three leaders in the race for individual scoring honors in the Big Ten basketball campaign held their margin last week, although a burst of scoring speed by Oosterbaan and Harrigan of Michigan brought the Wolverines within striking distance of the pace setters. Oosterbaan ran his total to 80 points to take fourth place, one point behind Gleichmann of Northwestern. Harrigan trails his team mate by a single marker. Capt. Daugherty of Illinois maintained his lead with 99 points, and Hunt of Ohio State clung to second with 91. Individual high point scores:

Daugherty, Illinois	99
Hunt, Ohio State	91
Gleichmann, Northwestern	87
Oosterbaan, Michigan	80

MAROONS MEET GOPHER TRACT TONIGHT

Coach A. A. Stagg Jr. leads his Maroon tracksters against Minnesota at Bartlett gymnasium tonight in the fourth dual meet of the indoor season for Chicago. The Maroons will be handicapped by the absence of Jim Cusack, who was forced out by injury a week ago, and with Bert McKinney also missing from the sprint and hurdles, will have to depend on the younger talent for points.

Capt. Anton Burg, in the high jump, again will try to break the Bartlett gym record of 6 feet 4 1/2 inches, set three years ago by Justin Russell of Chicago. Burg bettered this mark by thirteen sixteenths of an inch at the Illinois relays Saturday.

Chicagoan Secretary of U. S. Checker Association

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Willis Tyson of Philadelphia, has been elected president of the American Checker association on the eve of the international matches opening here tomorrow between the English-Scottish and American teams. E. Seelbach of Chicago, was elected secretary.

Lake View Kiwanians to Hold Charity Ring Show

The Lake View Kiwanis club will stage its annual charity athletic show tonight at the Chateau theater, 3818 Broadway, at 8 o'clock. A first class boxing and wrestling card has been provided. Johnny Behr will be the third man in the ring.

Chicago Nationals Play St. Philips Five Tomorrow

Two of the greatest basketball teams ever developed on the west side will meet tomorrow night when the Chicago Nationals and St. Philip's A. C. clash at the St. Philip's gymnasium, Jackson boulevard and Kedzie avenue.

SMITTY—THE MOOSE HUNTS THE HUNTER

Dundee Ready for Ring Tilt with Garcia

Mike Dundee, the hard hitting Italian featherweight of Rock Island, and Bobby Garcia of Baltimore, who meet in the banner event of the boxing show in the north hall of the Coliseum tomorrow night, are ready for what promises to be a slugging match.

Mike and Bobby finished the harder part of training yesterday at the Mul-ten gym, where each boxed six rounds with their sparring partners. Although large gloves were used, punches were traded in an earnest manner and the sparring mates welcomed the sound of the bell. Both fighters will enter the ring in perfect condition.

Pete Lato, the world's welterweight champion, who meets Joe Simonich of Butte, Mont., in the feature event of Mike Dundee's show at Dexter park pavilion on Saturday night, will resume training today. Simonich also will work. George Courtney of New York and Chuck Burns of San Antonio will be the principals in the semi-final.

Ernie Peters, local lightweight, will meet Kid Jap in part of the double window of the show to be staged at Eagle's hall, 5247 West Madison street, on March 8. Don Davis, local featherweight, and Tommy Owens of Omaha have been signed to meet in the other half of the main event. Matchmaker Benny Rhamo is arranging three other bouts to support the main event.

Amateur boxing and wrestling bouts will be staged by the 2024 club in the Broadway armory tonight. Ten bouts between local amateurs have been arranged and all money taken in at the gate will go into a fund to care for sick and disabled members of the regiment.

Pat Moore, the well known local bantamweight who can still jump around the ring, will clash with Kid Jap in the semi-final of ten rounds, while three other bouts between local fighters complete the card.

TWO FORESTER LEAGUE TEAMS TIED FOR LEAD

Hofbauer and St. Cecilia ended the Catholic Order of Forester basketball league season yesterday in a tie for first place, each having won nine games and lost one. Hofbauer defeated St. Monica, 20 to 16, at St. Alphonsus gym. In the other north section games De Soto won from St. Elizabeth, 25 to 9, and St. Sebastian whipped Queen of Angels, 22 to 15. Hofbauer-St. Monica lineup:

HOFBAUER: [20] ST. MONICA: [16]

ROCKNE HINTS AT NEW AERIAL IDEAS FOR NOTRE DAME

Plans Grid Twisters for Foes This Fall.

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

When Knute Rockne assembled his candidates for the Notre Dame football team today, he will start to experiment with some new ideas which may make the game more interesting. The Notre Dame coach does not believe the running game has been developed to its highest points. He also believes there is plenty of time for improvement in the successful execution of the running forward pass and he does not believe the backward and lateral passes have been used freely enough.

Plans Puzzling Plays. While Rockne will not admit he intends to abolish the shift because of the two second pause between the snap of the ball and completion of the shift placed upon such formations by the western conference, he did say he would use the shift very seldom if some of his ideas materialize.

In the midst of a fanning bee after the Illinois relay last Saturday, Rockne laid a lot of emphasis on one when the ball is put in play. He indicated this player can run back to his own goal line if necessary and still be eligible to throw a forward pass. All of which intimates that this fall's Notre Dame team will do plenty of passing with liberal, backward, and forward passes being executed on the same play. Then the cross-cross will be used to make the plays even more puzzling.

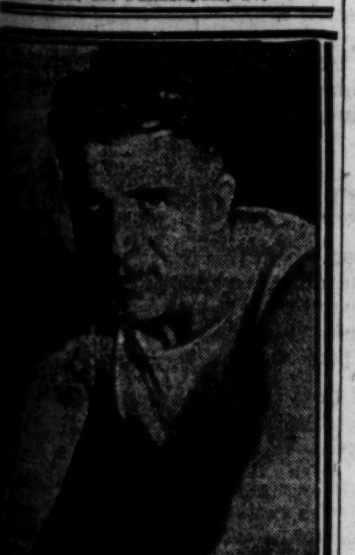

Labour Drill Pleases Zuppke. Rockne is one of the few coaches who will take a chance with the ball. He has been severely criticized on many occasions for forward passing in his own territory but he does not pull punches. He claims to have several surprise plays for the boys this fall, and he intends to experiment with a number of new wrinkles starting today.

Don Hanley, the new Northwestern football coach, attended the relay games and made quite an impression with other coaches. Bob Zuppke of Illinois announced he is getting some good results from his indoor practice although his men have been out of camp on the pleasant days. The coaches are already looking forward to a great year, and this is one reason why they are anxious to accomplish as much as possible in the spring practice.

SPARTA BLANKS THISTLES, 3-0, IN SOCCER CUP PLAY

Sparta entered the second round of the national cup competition yesterday by defeating the Thistles, 3 to 0, at 17th street and Koster avenue. The Sparta A. A. also advanced by blanking Pullman, 4 to 0. The Canadian club took a 2 to 1 setback at the hands of the Holly Carbutors of Detroit. Sparta-Thistle lineup:

The pressmen working in a newspaper office at Dorchester, Mass., used to have great trouble with rheumatic stiffness owing to frequent sudden draughts of cold air when the doors were opened to take in rolls of paper. One of their number began using Sloan's Liniment and now they all use it to keep Sloan's always on hand for the entire shop. "After my day's work I put a little Sloan's Liniment on my back legs. It never fails." Apply Sloan's gently, without rubbing. Right away you feel the comfortable, glowing warmth as new blood is brought to the sore spots, and soon the aching ceases. Get a bottle. All druggists sell it. Dr. Earl S. Sloan, 113 10th St., New York.

YEH—GO TO THE MOVIES WITH YOUR UNCLE OSCAR, EMMY—

WELL, I MUST BE GOING MYSELF—YOU'RE NOT AFRAID TO STAY ALONE, MULLINS?

NAW, AND I WANT OSCAR TO ENJOY HIMSELF, DO—HE'S SO DUMB HE HAS TO TAKE EMMY ALONG TO TICKLE HIM WHEN THEY SHOW THE FUNNY PART OF THE COMEDY SO HE'LL KNOW WHEN TO LAUGH!

Lewis to Risk Title Tonight with Romano

Ed Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, will meet Mike Romano, the Italian, in the wind-up of the wrestling show at the Coliseum tonight.

It will be a finish match, under rules of the Illinois athletic commission, and the men will be in the ring prepared to start hostilities at 10 o'clock. The match should be a battle of headlocks, although champion and challenger know how to apply many other holds. Lewis has gained few victories by means of holds other than the headlock, while Romano always reverts to the headlock at the slightest opportunity.

Lewis Ends Training. In his match with Leon Labriola at the Dreamland arena recently, Romano gave a great exhibition of wrestling. He displayed more knowledge of the mat game than at any time during his career. He worked from one hold into another and finally pinned his man with a series of headlocks.

Lewis, however, is in shape. He has been working at the Mullen gymnasium for nearly ten days. He has divided his time between the handball court and wrestling mat with the result he is in excellent condition, according to Manager Billy Sandow.

Malcewicz Meets Sarpollus. Joe Malcewicz of Utica, N. Y., who wrestled a three hour draw with Lewis in Boston last July, will meet Dr. Karl Sarpollus in the one fall semi-windup. The opening bout will bring together Marin Plestina and Scotty McDougal, while Jim McMillan, the former Illinois football player, will take holds with Frank Ogile in the other preliminary.

The show will open at 8:15 o'clock.

I A C Captures Central A A U Mat Tournay

Wrestlers representing the I. A. C. won team honors in the Central A. A. U. wrestling championships decided yesterday in the gymnasium of the Swedish-American A. A. Tri-color club grapplers scored 17 points; Northwestern university, 14, and American Boys' Commonwealth was third with 9 points. Ten organizations broke into the point column.

Glen Coleman of the I. A. C. was the only champion to retain his title. In the final bout he won the decision from W. Jensen of the Swedish-American A. A., after nine minutes of interesting wrestling. A number of the other final bouts went the time limits to decision.

The tournay was conducted by Harry Berg and about 1,000 mat fans saw the final struggles. Summaries:

Hastings, Former Pal of Young, Hurt in Auto Crash

TORONTO, Ont., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Speeding to the deathbed of his grandfather in Oshawa, Bill Hastings, former friend of George Young, Catalina swimmer, was seriously injured when his motor car skidded into another automobile on the Kingston road yesterday. He is in the hospital with his right leg fractured in two places. His manager, Townsend Paul, also had his leg broken. The accident will force cancellation of movie and vaudeville contracts arranged for Hastings.

GRAIN TRADERS EXPECT WARY MARKET TACTICS

By CHARLES MICHAELS.

The waning of the McNary market rally and its removal as a market factor, and the change in the grain futures administration's regulations regarding the reporting of individual operations are not expected to materially increase outside speculation immediately, as some of the closest observers of conditions see the market prospects.

They feel that while the professional grain trader talks much more confidently regarding the future, it will take some time, possibly several weeks, before the average speculator will venture any great desire to enter the market, as he has been under a most severe nervous strain for many weeks, due to the overshadowing influence of the farm relief measure.

World's supply and demand situation in wheat is sufficiently well balanced so that it attracts little attention at the present time, and some new factor is regarded as necessary to get the market out of the rut, and it is expected that the outlook for the new crop will furnish this in the immediate future.

Kansas Needs Moisture.

A week of mild weather has caused the winter wheat plant to green up over a wide area, and without disclosing any great amount of winter killing. There was around 4,000,000 acres needed last fall, compared with 37,000,000 acres harvested, so that the country could well afford to lose considerable acreage without the prospect of a large crop being materially lowered. Western Kansas, Nebraska, and Oklahoma have no sub-soil moisture of consequence, and another week of mild temperatures is expected to bring in scattered complaints from these sections, and it is also said that central Kansas would be benefited by moisture.

A material increase in the demand for cash wheat is regarded as necessary if the May delivery is to sell at a much greater premium over the July. To some extent the limited call of late has been due to the failure of flour buyers to take hold on a liberal scale. There was a larger export business in domestic hard and red winter wheat at the seaboard and Gulf than reported last week, probably close to 1,000,000 bu, but this country has still liberal quantities available for shipment, and clearance of around 10,000,000 bu per month are necessary from Feb. 1 to June 30 to bring the supply down to a normal carryover.

Wheat values fluctuated in a most erratic manner the last week within a range of 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ and closed with net losses of 1/2¢ to 1/4¢ with May at 1 1/2¢; July, 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢; and September 1 1/2¢ to 1 3/4¢. Range of prices the last week follows:

Fairbanks-Morse.

G. W. W. The business of Fairbanks-Morse & Co. was founded in 1820, when production of Fairbanks scales began.

It is now said to be the largest manufacturer in the country of Diesel and other internal combustion engines of all classes, other than automobile engines, and also manufactures a variety of steam, electrical and other equipment.

It is issuing $5,000,000 fifteen-year 5% debentures, due 1942.

These are its only funded debt.

It has never had any mortgage debt and no mortgage may be credited while any of these debentures are outstanding.

Total net assets, adjusted to give effect to present financing, are $15,038,727, or $4.50 for each $1,000 debenture.

Net current assets alone are $23,500,131, or $7.05 for each $1,000 debenture, and over 5 times the current liabilities.

Net earnings, after depreciation but before federal taxes, for the four years and nine months ended Sept. 30, 1926, averaged over 7 times annual interest of $400,000 on these debentures.

For the nine years and nine months ended 1926, data such earnings averaged nearly 6 1/2 times such interest.

Based on the first nine months of 1926, the earnings for that year are estimated at about 5 times this interest.

These debentures are a sound investment.

Brief Answers.

B. M. S. Huntington, W. Va.—The Chesapeake and Ohio railway Richmond and Allegheny division first consolidated as of 1926 are a sound investment.

T. L. H. Michigan City, Ind.—Grand Rapids and Indiana railway second 4s of 1926 are a sound investment.

K. S. P. Hibbing, Minn.—Marquette and Southeastern railway first mortgage 5s of 1926 are a sound investment.

parently a limited demand the entire central West would be in a much better financial position than it is at the present time, and there would be less demand for farm relief. Apparently eastern buyers have not figured out that they can save 30 per bu in buying the cash grain at the present time, in addition to securing the carrying charge of 50 per bu in taking hold now rather than on May 1.

There is no question in the minds of a majority of traders but that the cash corn situation is the weakest known in many years, and a radical revival in the shipping demand is regarded as necessary to prevent the futures from declining, although sooner or later there must be readjustment between the cash and the futures.

Investigations conducted in central Illinois confirm recent reports regarding the poor feeding value of the 1926 corn crop, and there is a feeling that as soon as the present movement of grain ceases there will be relatively little grain left to come forward, although farmers who held back corn in anticipation of a higher price have yet to liquidate.

In some quarters the belief prevails that the lowest prices of the season will be witnessed shortly, after which the market should do better.

All deliveries of corn sold at a new low on the crop last week, with May leading the decline, and while the close was on a good rally net losses were 1/4¢ to 1/2¢ with May 4¢ under July. May finished at 75¢; July at 81¢ to 81 1/2¢; and September, 84¢. Range of prices the past week follows:

GERMANS SEEK TO BRING ITALY INTO STEEL COMBINE

By JOHN CLAYTON.

(Copyright, 1927, by The Chicago Tribune.)

ROME, Feb. 27.—While Italy is not yet ready to enter the continental steel combine, which today includes Germany, France, Luxembourg and Belgium, the visit to Rome of Fritz von Thyssen and Baron Vogler, the German steel magnates, will not be entirely empty of results.

Herr von Thyssen's conversations with the big industrialists, financiers and political personages have clarified the relation of Italian heavy industry with that of the other nations in the trust to a point where Italy may find satisfactory an invitation to join the combine.

Explain New Move.

An explanation of the present state of affairs in the combine and the reasons for Herr von Thyssen's visit was given exclusively to this Tribune this evening from what may be considered official sources. It points out that the combine is trying, because of difficulties encountered, to bring even the consuming nations within its sphere of influence. Italy is one of those.

When the quota which each of the participating countries should produce was established, the production during the first four months of 1925 was taken as the basis. During those four months the Italian production was much below normal. Italy, therefore, found itself in a very unfavorable position and unable to enter the combine.

In the first months of the combine Germany has had to produce more than the amount allotted and has had to pay $4 a ton for this overproduction. In consequence, Germany had to dispose elsewhere of its overproduction. It is believed this necessity suggested the visit of Herr von Thyssen and Baron Vogler.

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Feb. 26.—The big Swedish iron ore company, the Grangesberg, has combined with the big Dutch syndicate, the William Muller company, to exploit the enormous iron mines of French North Africa.

American Smelting Again Shows Gain in Earnings

New York, Feb. 27.—Earnings on the common stock of the American Smelting & Refining company have nearly doubled in the last two years, the annual report for 1926 showing net income of $17,740,721, an increase of $2,560,980 over 1925. This is equivalent to $22.28 a share on the common, a gain of $4.21 a share over 1925 and $10.78 a share over 1924. Surplus income was $9,648,871, against $7,725,890 the year before. Cash on hand was $24,519,784, a gain of $9,243,789 over 1925. The company expended during the year in new undertakings, enlargements and betterments, $7,583,629, without additional financing. Current and miscellaneous assets on $97,135,157 gained $1,062,095 during the year, about five times liabilities.

Provision Trade Light

Provision prices held within relatively narrow limits the last week, but with the strength in cottonseed oil and lessened hedging pressure the average was higher, hard gaining 56 1/4¢; ribs, 13¢ and 14¢

From his letter, John B. Smiley, Esq., President, further summarizes as follows statement including both Remington Arms Company, Inc., and its subsidiary Companies:

BUSINESS: Remington Arms Company, Inc., incorporated in 1874, was founded in 1816, itself or through subsidiary companies, manufactures Remington arms, Remington U M ammunition, Remington cutlery and Remington cash registers. Manufacturing plants are at Bridgeport, Connecticut; Ilion, New York; and Brimsdown, Middlesex, England. Sales in 1926 over $18,000,000.

The Company's business is well diversified. Its output of ammunition constitutes about one-third of the country's total production; its output of cash registers is the second largest in the world; and its output of typewriters is one of the largest in the United States, and probably in the world.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: Proceeds of this $4,000,000 issue will provide part of the funds to retire the Company's maturing issue of $6,000,000 Three-Year 6% Gold Notes, due April 15, 1927, the remainder of the funds for the retirement of the latter issue being provided without further refinancing, from revenues already received or to be received prior to that date. Upon completion of this issue the Company will have no floating debt then outstanding.

ASSETS: Total net assets, after deducting all liabilities other than funded debt, $24,076,573, or 205% of $11,718,000 total funded debt including this issue. Plants, representing actual investment of $20,100,874, after deducting reserves of $6,769,155 are conservatively valued at $13,331,719. First Mortgage Bonds, $7,718,000, only outstanding funded debt other than this issue. Total current assets upon completion of this financing amount to $12,161,199, or more than 7 times total current liabilities of $1,529,412. Net current assets, $10,631,787.

EARNINGS: Average annual net earnings (after depreciation charges and all inventory and other adjustments), for the 10 years ended December 31, 1926 were $1,579,227, or more than 2.3 times the $683,080 annual interest requirement on total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of present financing. For the 23 year period since 1903 average annual net earnings were more than twice this interest requirement.

For the year 1923 net earnings were $2,455,454, or more than 3.6 times this interest requirement. In the years 1924 and 1925 the Company showed net losses of $301,328 and $716,605 respectively (after depreciation charges and all inventory and other adjustments). These losses were entirely due to losses in the cash register department, chiefly caused by development expenses in that branch of the business.

For the year ended December 31, 1926 net earnings were $1,414,556, or more than twice the $683,080 interest requirement on total funded debt to be outstanding upon completion of the present financing. In addition, the Company in 1926 received, in settlement of cash register litigation and royalty contracts, income amounting to a total of $1,953,295 not included in the above stated net earnings because of its non-recurring character.

MANAGEMENT: The Company's management is in the hands of men of experience and ability, and the quality and character of its products, including its already widely used newer lines of cutlery and cash registers, as well as its older lines of products, are of high standing and reputation.

"THE AMERICAN WEEKLY" IS THE MOST WIDELY READ MAGAZINE IN THE WORLD

The MAIN STREAM

LIKE a strong, deep river, the clientele of The American Weekly moves at the heart of American life. On lonely farms, in rural hamlets, in smart suburban communities and roaring cities, its tremendous following is united through the medium of this great publication. The public that reads it is the main stream, the central channel, through which is conducted a major portion of the wealth and energy of the nation.

The fourteen great trading areas in which The American Weekly has peak circulation are the focal points of the industrial and commercial life of the United States. To them, as tributaries to a stream, flow the products, the surplus resource of the rest of the country. Each, in an economic sense, is the capital of a rich empire.

In these fourteen strategic trading areas The American Weekly is read regularly in 5,000,000 homes. In these 5,000,000 homes live 22,000,000 people—one-fifth the total population of the United States! They are typical Americans, having a high standard of living to maintain, and the means with which to maintain it. Their tastes are the tastes of the public at large. Their thoughts are the thoughts of America.

The daily purchases of these 22,000,000 consumers run into hundreds of millions of dollars yearly. And in making these purchases they are directly influenced by the advertisements which reach them constantly in The American Weekly. There is no other publication in the world which reaches so large a buying group as this. There is no other buying group which responds so readily to advertising.

Yet, despite the enormous influence of The American Weekly, it is not an expensive advertising medium. Its rates, in relation to its circulation, the largest in the world, are phenomenally low—$8 per line, $1.69 milline, $14,500 for an inside page (black and white), $15,000 for an inside color page, and $16,000 for a back cover in color. And it is the only national medium in which the advertiser can take a full newspaper-size page in color.

The American Weekly will launch your product fairly and securely upon the main current of public favor. Write today for complete information to the nearest office (see below) of The American Weekly, A. J. Kobler, President.

The American Weekly is a complete magazine, printed in newspaper form, and distributed with the Sunday editions of the Hearst newspapers in the leading American cities having one-fifth of the total manufactures, three-fourths of the total bank clearings, and one-third of the urban population of the United States.

Starring Dulcie Jayne

By VIRGINIA TRACY.

SYNOPSIS.

Lyman Marshall, employed in the scenario department of Hertzog's Perfection motion picture studio at Fort Lee, N. J., learns with sorrow that Henry Hertzog, the head of the department, has been fired by Lyman Hertzog, son of the owner of the studio. Lyman knows that Hertzog is jealous of Henry because he is in love with Dulcie Jayne, the star of the studio, but Dulcie seems to prefer her director, Daniel K. Leland.

Lyman suggests to Hertzog that they feature Leland as an actor as well as a director and this causes a quarrel between father and son. Old Mr. Hertzog suffers a stroke as a result and Lyman is left in charge of the studio. His first independent move is to discharge Leland, who takes his dismissal coolly and proceeds to finish a picture he has been working on. Lyman meets Dulcie on location and tries to force himself on her.

INSTALLMENT XXXII.
THE EDGE OF A PRECIPICE.

Lyman recognized Dulcie's whistle as a message. Chilled to a marrow ache as it had been scraped by a squealing slate pencil, he had not the strength to keep from looking over his shoulder. Having looked, he rose shakily, shakily, swallowing—and began brushing the knees of his trousers. The pioneer's hat a tall, slim, angular, muscular, beautiful youth, and Benny Rosenkrantz, was promptly, though leisurely, advancing. Benny, too, had been left to await the return of the car from the few which Leland's second camera man was quite capable of taking, and had been lying at his ease within the roofless hut as Dulcie had been lying there. Now, smoking, he strode slowly across the hillside, with a gait strangely near to Leland's as could be assumed by a young gentleman accustomed to the jauntiness of sloping into all the different angles possible, as Leland himself, his pipe held like Leland's, he arrived at the sharp edge of the hill without seeming to have noticed any one about and stood presently meditating upon the view, his back turned on humanity. Whether or not because the imitation of Leland was so close, it seemed as if he were back. Or was it because Benny, like Lyman over Mr. Hertzog's gold, could whistle a tune, could murmur its words? The words and music came by Benny for this occasion were:

"Once aboard the tugger
And the girl is mine!"

Lyman drove home. It is a pity to have to record that Dulcie Jayne, having so far behaved as a little lady, now rose, turned upon the spot where Lyman had knelt,

By Mae Tinée.

Good morning! There's some effective fire stuff in this picture which is the screenization (new word, made it up) of Peter B. Kyne's story. Many forest fires have burned their way across a myriad of screens, but there was never one where the flames seemed hotter and the smoke clouds more enveloping and that appeared to bring more actual peril in its train than the one you witness in "The Understanding Heart."

The tale concerns itself with forest rangers and its heroine, Monica Dale, has a lone lookout station on top of Pogus mountain. One day, through her glass, she sees a tragic happening. For the honor of her family a man who loves her shoots and kills an other—though the actual killing is in self-defense. Because the gun of the deceased cannot be found to support the assertions of the killer, he is reluctantly apprehended—for he's a favorite thereabout—and sentenced to the penitentiary.

From which he escapes. He comes again to Monica's life at a time when her path is flooded with romance. The cause of all this light is a handsome young ranger, Tony Garland. It takes the jimmiedy of a forest fire mentioned in the first paragraph to set everything right and pave the way for the happiness of Monica and Tony.

The picture is decidedly melodramatic but it is full of action, fine scenery and splendid photography. Joan Crawford, who looks a lot like Pauline Frederick, is in a delightful Monica. Tony Garland, Francis X. Bushman Jr., the youthful counterpart of his dad, is clean cut, youthful, and appealing as young Garland.

Rockwell Fellers, that caveman with the mining gait and ways who is so seldom allowed to do anything noble for the films, has this time a sympathetic role in the part of Bob Mason who loves so loyally in vain. Charles Myers in a blonde wig does a satisfactory naughty lady and the piece is spiced with humor from the acts and words of the sheriff and an imbibing pal, a couple of old dud who are shoulders duty and life upon whose shoulders Richard Carle and Harvey Clark.

The film is eye pleasing and entertaining. It is not always convincing.

The Roosevelt has a double picture program this week. "The First Night" and a reissue of "Shoulder Arms," with Charlie Chaplin. The latter, a war comedy, is one of the best Mr. Chaplin ever made—but you know as much about it as I do, so we won't spend any more time on that subject.

"The First Night" is a farce comedy detailing the exciting adventures of a newly wed pair who have a terrible time before they find themselves alone at last. A disgruntled former suitor of the bride, you see, has determined that never SHALL they be alone and, all dolled up as a French Mimmi, he is as a she, is everywhere present, kicking up trouble.

BUT—at last, the wig comes off—and zut's zat.

Light stuff—but well done and easy to watch.

Churches Arrange
Special Services for Ash Wednesday

BY THE REV. W. B. NORTON.

Wednesday, called in the church calendar Ash Wednesday, marks the beginning of Lent. Churches, Catholic, Lutheran of all synods, the Chicago Church federation, representing 17 denominations; the First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago Temple, the Cathedral Shelter, the Chicago Church club of the Episcopal church, and the Central Y. M. C. A. have all arranged special services.

In Catholic churches Ash Wednesday will be observed by the blessing of the ashes at 8 a. m. and in the evening with the ceremony at which the priest touches the forehead of the worshiper with ashes made by the burning of the palm branches used on Palm Sunday a year ago.

Special noonday masses will be held at St. John's, St. Patrick's, St. Peter's, Notre Dame, and St. Mary's, Paulist. Cardinal Mundelein will officiate at 11 o'clock each Sunday in Lent at the Cathedral of the Holy Name.

The services of the Chicago Church club of the Episcopal church will be held from 12:10 to 12:30 p. m. at the Garrison theater, 64 West Randolph street. The Rt. Rev. James Wise, bishop of Kansas, will speak Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. The Catholic club of the Episcopal church will hold daily eucharistic services, including Saturdays, but omitting Sundays, at the Willoughby building, 81 East Madison street.

The Cathedral shelter, 17 North Peoria street, the Rev. David E. Gibson, priest in charge, will hold daily services at 12 to 12:30 p. m. Among the speakers will be Bishop C. F. Anderson, Bishop S. M. Griswold, Dr. E. J. Randall, Dr. F. S. Fleming, Dr. George Craig Stewart, the Rev. F. R. Godolphin and the Rev. Irvine Goddard.

The First Methodist Episcopal church, Chicago Temple, Dr. John Thompson, pastor, will hold services Wednesday, beginning Ash Wednesday noon. Arthur Dunham, organist, will give an organ recital before and after the half hour service.

The Chicago Church federation and the First Methodist Episcopal church will hold noonday meetings jointly at the Chicago Temple during Passion and Holy weeks.

The Lutherans of the Missouri synod will hold daily meetings in the Adelphi theater, 11 North Clark street, for three weeks, beginning March 28.

The United Lutheran will hold daily noon meetings during holy week at the La Salle theater, 110 West Madison street. Dr. Simon Peter Long will be the first speaker.

The Central Y. M. C. A., 19 South La Salle street, will hold nine noonday meetings, four on the Mondays, beginning March 7, and on the five Thursdays of Lent.

The Inquiring Reporter
Every Day He Asks Five
Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

The Tribune will pay $5 for each question accepted by the Inquiring Reporter to ask. Send name and address with your question to "The Inquiring Reporter," Chicago Tribune. For today's question Mrs. Mary Maher, 1448 North Spaulding avenue, was awarded $5.

The Question.
Would you accept an offer to join a Ziegfeld Follies chorus?

The Answer.
Miss Helen Morgan, 640 Sheridan road, stenographer—

The only answer I could possibly give would be yes, of course. Any girl would be a little proud to have that offer made to her because of the acknowledged physical perfection that it implies. And if the girl maintains her standards, the experience should be beneficial to her.

Miss Jackelyn Dempsey, 1630 North Karlov avenue, home girl, I would, though I hardly know why. I know in that case I wouldn't be too bashful, if I had an attractive partner, I might give some of the other girls some competition. I might even make their shows, beautiful and artistic as they are, even more beautiful and artistic.

Miss Helen Lambert, 2322 Commonwealth avenue, actress—No, really. I tell you why, if you want to know. I am a dramatic actress and I can't imagine myself doing any other kind of professional work. As for other girls having a talent and qualifications for the stage, the Ziegfeld Follies should be an advantageous experience.

Miss Florence Levinstein, 1105 Hyde Park boulevard, secretary—Yes, beginning tonight's performance with my present position. A Follies girl is known for her exceptional beauty, so it would indicate that I was such dancing such foolish work.

Miss Ruth G. Mason, 1517 East 67th place, university student—I have no reservations in that direction. I would rather teach school. One of my girl acquaintances is a professional dancer and she provides for her leisure time in crocheting, and she considers professional foolish work.

Artistry of Levitzki
Makes Piano Seem Simple Instrument

BY EDWARD MOORE.

Besides being an excellent musician, Mischa Levitzki has apparently conquered most of the technical problems that, unconquered, make piano playing look like a difficult task. The pianist in his audience at the Studebaker yesterday afternoon and perhaps will, enlarge upon matters of leverage and forearm action. The general result, however, was that when he played such works as Rubinstein's "Staccato Etude" and Liszt's "Twelfth Rhapsody," they sounded like pleasant and not extraordinarily difficult pieces of music, to be judged as such, and not like the brilliant bits of virtuosity which in reality they are. Concealment of obstacles has become an art with him, and this manner, coupled with his sane and warm intelligence, made his Chopin playing more than commonly gratifying and spiritually stimulating.

Next door at the Playhouse Gaiety Cadie was engaged upon her first Chicago song recital, which was visited just in time to hear an unusually interesting set of songs, a group of six to French texts, two each by Joseph Sauter, Raoul Laparra, and Charles Koechlin. Miss Cadie has not the finest singing voice in the world, perhaps she is quite a distance from that classification, but these songs were well out of the ordinary, and she has the brain to deal with such. As a result, there was a performance that one went away thinking about and approving.

Another concert by the Civic Orchestra of Chicago at Orchestra hall displayed Conductor Eric DeLamarter in control of an excellent organization, one wherein suavity of tone was also balanced tone, and clear enunciation was also flexible, deft, and capable of fine climax. This was demonstrated in Cherubini's "Anacreon" Overture and Mendelssohn's "Scotch" Symphony. Saul Dorfman, the soloist, is a boy, seemingly about fourteen years old, and certainly with a pronounced talent for the piano. In Mozart's Concerto in D he displayed a fine sense of the tonal capabilities of the piano, a smooth performance, and a good idea of what Mozart had in mind in writing that kind of music.

Elsie Janis to Entertain at Legion Luncheon Today

Post commanders of the second district of Cook county will be guests today of Advertising Men's post No. 38 of the American Legion at the weekly noon luncheon at Hotel Sherman. Elsie Janis will also be a guest and will refrain some of the entertainment she provided for the troops in the many hospitals and rest billets during the war. In the evening the post will hold its annual stag at the hotel.

THEATER

Miss Frances Halliday, here for a time as Huguette in "The Vagabond King," is succeeding Miss Juliette Day in the principal woman's part of "Sweet Lady," scheduled for Sunday-night revelation in the Illinois.

The World War is more nearly over than ever, I assume, for Max Reinhardt is to have a Paris "season," starting in June. Another assumption is that it will be insured, as to the difference between the put and the take, by Mr. Otto Kahn. Plays to be staged by Professor Reinhardt are Schiller's "Love and Intrigue," Shakespeare's "A Midsummer Night's Dream," and a music-farce called "Victoria," based on a piece of Somerset Maugham's named "Too Many Husbands."

An opera whose "book" is credited to the authors of "Cradle-Songsters," the most successful big-city farce of recent years, is to be put on in London before it is shown in this country, if announced plans be carried out. Lewis E. Gensler has written the tunes.

William Harrigan, who left "The Dove" last season in Chicago and went into the trial named "The Great God Brown" in New York. It is to be made co-star with Miss Lillian Foster in the piece called "Romantic Round."

Mr. Mantle, in yesterday's issue of THE TRIBUNE, had some interesting things to say about this year's Pulitzer prize, and listed four or five plays from among which, he thinks, the winner will be selected. My own belief, although I've seen none of the pieces he names, is that the prize will be given this season to Miss Marilyn Miller. True, the provision is that the prize shall be for the play "that best represents the educational value and power of the stage in raising the standard of good-manners, good-taste, and good-manners." Also, it is true that Miss Miller isn't a play; but I'm unable to see how the comic-strip jumpy who make the award can well overlook or ignore the newspaper-space given last week to the announcement that Miss Miller is returning to the management of the Ziegfelds—space given in the final week of February to something that was a matter of contract as long ago as November. And, then, in view of some of the plays for which the award has been given, I'm inclined to think that "raising" is a misprint for "raising."

A consequence of the Hattons' reputation of play-writing for the stage is named "Synthetic Sin." It has been through a try-out in Los Angeles, where "Able's Irish Rose" was tried out.

Detroit, Feb. 27.—(AP)—The "Sky-lark," a balloon owned by the Detroit Flying club, in which K. M. Warren and W. C. Naylor, balloonists, hoped to establish new distance and endurance records, broke away while being inflated last night. The balloon, without passengers, was last reported headed eastward in tow of a 40 m. m. wind. Officials today were attempting to locate the bag in Pennsylvania and New York.

Deneen Voices
Senate Tribute to McKinleyCummins Also Eulogized in Memorial Service.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 27.—[Special.]—Tributes to the memories of the late Senator William B. McKinley of Illinois and the late Senator Albert B. Cummins of Iowa were paid in special services in the senate chamber today.

Republicans and Democrats alike joined in acclaiming the high order of statesmanship which both of the late senators displayed and the valuable services they rendered to the nation during their many years in one branch or the other of the congress.

Senator Deneen (Rep., Ill.) in his address traced the life of Senator McKinley from his birth, through the amazing of a great fortune which he dispensed to charitable and educational enterprises with a liberal hand, down to his election to the senate in 1920 after fifteen years' service in the house.

"The senator gave the same close attention to the affairs of the government that he made him so successful in his private business," declared Senator Deneen. "He was patient and painstaking in informing himself about the work of congress and the various departments. He served faithfully on important committees and his opinions and judgment were highly respected by his colleagues and had great influence in shaping public policies."

"His personal qualities and characteristics endeared him to his colleagues. His fine traits of character will long be cherished and remembered by those who served with him here," Senators Warren (Rep., Wyo.), Capper (Rep., Kas.), Harris (Dem., Ga.), and Robinson (Dem., Ark.), the Democratic leader in the senate, also eulogized the memory of Senator McKinley.

"I venture to say," declared Senator Stunt (Dem., Ia.), speaking of Senator Cummins, "that no man has sat in this senate who had a greater love for the state and people he represented or was more zealous and diligent in promotion of their welfare. It truly may be said also that he was a member of the senate of the United States in the fullest sense of the term and not alone a senator from the state of Iowa."

"Always a profound student and tremendous worker, it is probable that his hand is to be found on more of the pages of the permanent laws of the United States than that of any man since he came to the senate in 1903. Particularly this is true with respect to the law relating to railroad transportation. He was the acknowledged authority on that subject."

"His was a broad vision, and in all that he did he had in mind the interests of the people of the whole country. Upon him properly may be conferred the highest and the most honorable of titles—a good man; a good citizen; a gentleman."

Maple Sirup.

No one who has ever lived a neighbor to a sugar maple tree, tapped it, caught its sap, and boiled it down to a sirup, or further, to a candy, or further, to a sugar, can but be reminded of the fact, in the season when heavy frosts at night are succeeded by a dawning sun by day. This is ideal weather for the starting of the sap in the maple tree.

An Englishman, a hundred years ago, discoursing on the exceedingly pleasant matter of trees, closes his essay on the maple thus: "The sugar maple grows plentifully in the United States, and from the sap of it the inhabitants make a considerable quantity of sugar, which, though inferior both in the grain and in strength to that which is produced by the cane, granulates better than that of the beet root, or any other vegetable, the cane excepted."

"The sugar maple is a smaller tree than the maple of this country, and it is not in much repute as a timber, although from its abundance it is a good deal used in America—the wood for domestic purposes, and the bark as a blue dye, and as an ingredient in the manufacture of ink.

"February, March, or April, according to the state of the season, is the time when the maple is tapped for the preparation of sugar. A perforation is made by an auger about two inches into the tree, slanting upward; into this a cane or wooden pipe is inserted, and a vessel placed to receive the sap. . . . From two to three gallons may be about the daily average afforded by a single tree.

"The process by which the maple juice is boiled and clarified into sugar does not differ materially from that used for cane juice in the West Indies. The juice should be as recently drawn as possible, for if it stands more than twenty-four hours it is apt to undergo the acetous fermentation, in which state it produces no sugar."

And now they tell us that it was the French explorer and trapper that taught the American Indian to tap the tree and boil down its sap, instead of the other way around. And today as a maple table, but perhaps we cannot find the maple trenchers, mortars, bowls, and platters such as our great-grandmothers used.

Women of North Woods Have Vacation Show

The first step in a program to make the Wisconsin north woods better known to tourists, nearly 100 women, members of the new Wisconsin Women's Vacation Show, will sponsor a show at the Wisconsin World's fair, May 19 to 27, at the Coliseum. Mrs. Janet Cole of Manitowish, Wis., president of the association, and Miss Gertrude Doyle of Manitowish are co-chairmen of the committee in charge of the exhibit.

Mrs. Cole established her camp, Camp Point, on Pike lake, about five miles ago. Miss Doyle bought an old resort on Lake Kawaguchi three years ago.

Gigli Gets New Threat; Unaware of It, He Sings

New York, Feb. 27.—(AP)—Rumors of a threat against the life of Benigno Gigli, Metropolitan tenor, brought a guard of twenty-one detectives and policemen to the Century hotel today when the singer gave a concert to 4,200 persons. Gigli sang several of the heavy guard. A year ago he left Detroit and 2,000 tickets when a letter signed "The Friends of Italy" warned him to stop singing unless he wished to "adorn a slab in the morgue."

Benefit Card Party.

Mrs. Catherine R. Service of 706 W. Kenmore avenue, is to be hostess at a card and benefit party to be given for the benefit of the missionary cause at the Columbus park rectory this evening.

Illinois Club Dinner.

The Illinois club will entertain the members of various clubs at the Belvidere hotel today at the annual dinner. Mrs. Harold Woodhouse is to be hostess, and Miss Priddy is chairman of arrangements.

Cultivating a Schoolgirl Complexion

By VILMA BANKY

Wash the face gently with Palmolive. Massage the face with Palmolive. Do that regularly, and particularly at night. Note then how much better your skin in even one week. GET REAL PALMOLIVE. Get Palmolive today. Costs but 10c the cake. Use no other on your face. But be sure you get GENUINE Palmolive. Crude imitations, represented to be of olive and palm oils, are not the same as Palmolive. Remember that and TAKE CARE. The Palmolive-Pet Co., Chicago, U. S. A.

Never touch your face with any but TRUE complexion soap

First rule in modern skin care is to keep the skin clean and free of accumulations. Use soap and make-up all you wish. Do not leave them on overnight. That means soap and water. But use, too, a TRUE COMPLEXION SOAP only. A soap made for the face. A soap made to protect the face.

Then, largely on expert advice, use Palmolive Soap; touch with no other. It is made for the purpose only. It is to protect and beautify the skin.

PATTERNS BY CLOTILDE

WOMAN'S AND MISSES' APRON.

This pretty apron, cut with a slight circular flare at the bottom, is easy to make and is bound to be pretty when finished. A printed design, or one of the small checks will be good for the apron, using a plain and contrasting color for the binding.

The pattern, 676, comes in sizes small (34-36), medium (38-40), and large (42-44) sizes. The medium sizes requires 1 1/4 yards of 40 or 44 inch material, or 2 yards of 36 inch material.

Rev. F. R. Nitchie New Christ Church Rector

The Rev. Francis R. Nitchie, assistant for six years at St. Luke's Episcopal church, Evanston, under Dr. George Craig Stewart, rector, will become today rector of Christ church, 66th street and Woodlawn avenue.

He succeeds the Rev. H. J. Buckingham. The Rev. Mr. Nitchie came to Evanston after serving churches in Maryland and the District of Columbia. He was graduated from Cornell university and Berkeley Divinity school, Conn. He entered the priesthood in 1916. Christ church is regarded as of special importance as it serves the Episcopal students of the University of Chicago.

Harps Club Dance.

The Harps club is to hold a pre-Lenten coed dance at the auditorium of St. Catherine's High school this evening. The high school alumni are also interested. Proceeds are to go to the Sisters of Mercy. Emmett R. Byrne is chairman of the committee in charge.

Lya de Putti, Hungarian Film Star, Chicago Visitor

Lya de Putti, Hungarian film star, en route to New York for a two weeks' vacation between pictures, stopped over in Chicago a few hours yesterday. She has just finished a picture with Joseph Schildkraut and upon her return to Hollywood she will star in "Lea Lyon" for Cecil B. De Mille. Miss de Putti declared she had never heard of the secret hush fund in Hollywood for preventing scandalous stories of the stars from becoming public. She also said that in spite of Charlie Chaplin's recent difficulties, most of the stars esteemed him as an artist as highly as before.

Where Faces say Farewell to Winter

Now, above all seasons, says HELENA RUBINSTEIN, international beauty scientist, the skin calls for rejuvenating creams and lotions to clear away wintry dinginess... smooth out tired lines, lift drooping contours... soften and refine unattractive, weather-coarsened skin texture.

At the Rubinstein Salon, even one Treatment (3.50) will work wonders with your winter-faded complexion and contour. For daily home use, the following luxurious Preparations are essential to perfect skin health and beauty.

CLEANSE—MOLD

Valase Pastes and Face Cream... the basis of beauty... cleanses thoroughly... molds out "tired look"... keeps skin smooth, protected, healthy. Unsurpassed for normal skins... the only cream that positively benefits oily, pimply or acne-blamed skins... an excellent foundation for make-up. 1.00

CLARIFY—WHITEN

Valase Beautifying Skin Food... the skin-clearing masterpiece... an animator and regulator of the skin's activity... mildly bleaches, purifies, creates an entrancing delicacy of texture. 1.00

EXQUISITE COSMETICS

Valase Powders—Rouges—Lipsticks, absolutely pure—protective to the most delicate skin—in a wide range of flattering tints which enhance the natural beauty of your complexion. 1.00 to 5.50
